Assembly Ready For First Vote

Balance Appears To Be Tilted In Favor Of Mendes-France

PARIS (AP)—Premier Pierre Mendes-France Thursday threw his popularity and prestige squarely on the parliamentary scales in favor of rearming West Germany under the nine-nation London agreements.

At the end of an hour-long appeal to the National Assembly, the premier appeared to have tilted the balance strongly in his favor for the first vote which will probably come Friday night.

Prominent Socialist and Popular Republican (MRP) deputies predicted Mendes-France will get between 330 and 350 votes, well over the 314 absolute majority.

Careful Report
In a careful, restrained report on the London negotiations, the Premier urged the Assembly—which killed the European army plan (EDC)—to endorse German entry into an integrated defense force under a revived Brussels Treaty and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Socialists, Assembly sources said, are likely to tie some strings to their approval, notably a satisfactory solution of the French-German dispute over the Saar's industrial wealth. But the Premier reiterated he felt the same way and said he intends to submit the rearmament plan and a Saar solution to Parliament for ratification simultaneously.

Mendes-France asked for parliamentary approval of the outlines of the London agreements and authority to fill in the details in the forthcoming ministerial conferences later this month. The Assembly was not asked to vote on any treaty text at this time.

Prolonged Applause
To heavy and prolonged applause, Mendes-France hailed Britain's pledges to keep troops on the continent indefinitely, and said he has no further objections to bringing West Germany into NATO as a full member.

He pointed out that British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden had committed his government to maintaining four divisions and a tactical air force on the continent as long as a majority of the Brussels Treaty members desire. He said this represented more than half of Britain's available military strength.

Bow 'n' Arrow Holdup

FREIBURG, Germany (AP)—Police reported that three masked men—armed with bows and arrows—help up a farmer near here and robbed him of $61.88. The trio then hopped on a motorcycle and sped away.

Authorities Left With Bag Of Tools

Law enforcement officials from a half dozen south Nebraska counties, the Safety Patrol and the FBI joined in the search for two burglars who attempted to rob the W. G. Reinke Lumber

Couple Unable To Halt Burglars During Chase

Byron Businessman Fires 20 Shots; 2 Robbers Finally Escape On Foot

SUPERIOR, Neb. (AP)—A gritty businessman and his wife Thursday routed two burglars from a Byron lumberyard and pursued them by car some 15 miles, firing some 20 shots at the fleeing car during the chase.

With one bullet left, and restrained by his wife from going after the robbers on foot, William Reinke kept watch of the burglars' car, which had halted at the roadside, until officers arrived but the pursued pair escaped on foot.

Reinke, owner of the lumber yard at Byron, 13 miles east of here, had installed a burglar alarm to his home from the yard only two days ago.

Caught In Act
When it went off Thursday, Reinke grabbed a revolver and accompanied by Mrs. Reinke went to the lumber yard. As he entered the lumber yard office, Reinke found one of the burglars in the act of taking a revolver from a showcase where it was displayed.

The burglar ducked behind the counter, slipped out the back door and jumped into a car where a companion waited. They took off toward Superior.

Mr. and Mrs. Reinke followed, Reinke firing some 17 shots at the fleeing car. Reinke later told Nuckolls County Sheriff W. L. Wilcox and Superior Police Chief Emery Martin.

Sought Help
Reinke said he fired twice going through Superior, hoping to attract attention, but when that failed, he stopped a filling station and asked the attendant to call officers. The Reinke came upon the burglars' abandoned car three miles north of Superior.

Apparently the burglars had fled on foot back to Superior where shortly afterward Bud Reeves saw two men get into his car and drive off. No trace had been found of the men or the car some hours later.

The burglars' car bore Nevada license plates. Near it, when it was found, was liquor stolen earlier in the evening at Hubbell, Neb., 15 miles east of Byron.

Sewer Bond Sale Awaits Approval

Finance Director Theo Berg will have a resolution before the City Council Monday authorizing the sale of $1.5 million in storm sewer improvement bonds.

The issue will be part of the $3 million sale approved by the voters at the special city election last May. Plans are to issue only as much of the total each year as can be spent on improvement projects.

Exact date of the $1.5 million sale has not yet been fixed by Berg but he stated it would be around the middle of November. The last city bond issue was $1.5 million of auditorium debentures sold June 15 at an interest rate of 1.65 per cent.

Berg stated that he saw no reason why the storm sewer bonds would not go at about the same rate. The sale has been approved by Chapman Cutler, Chicago bond attorneys.

Tito Has Black Eye

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—President Tito turned up before the Yugoslav Federal Executive Council Thursday with a black eye. He wore a black patch over his right eye.

Aids explained he had been struck by a bunch of flowers tossed at him by an enthusiastic young girl while he was riding through Sarajevo in an open car.

Burglar Takes Merchandise

A browsing burglar, who apparently had odd-size feet, grabbed a B-4 bag at the Surplus Center at 900 West P and took it on the lam when a burglar alarm went off Thursday night.

No money was taken, but at least $14 worth of property which the burglar thought was surplus to the owner, was taken.

A jimmy bar was found by police and Deputy Sheriff Frank Jacox just inside the back door of the store. The back door was found open and jammed.

Boxes of boots were found scattered around but store owner Jim Burden said that no boots were taken.

City detectives said that Walter Jensen of 1105 West P heard the loud alarm, and jumped up out of his chair to the window to see a man running in the rear premises of the store heading west.

It was the second burglary in three weeks at the store. "I'm glad the burglar alarm gave them a chill," owner Burden said.

Charles F. Burk Dies At Age 76

Charles F. Burk, 76, of 1019 So. 19th, died Thursday night at a local hospital.

Mr. Burk, a native of Illinois, had lived in Lincoln 14 years. He had been employed as an attendant at the State Hospital for 12 years.

He came to Hallam as a boy and had been assistant cashier at the Hallam Bank. He farmed near Kramer for 15 years before moving to Lincoln.

Mr. and Mrs. Burk had celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary on Jan. 15, 1952. He was a member of the Congregational Church at Hallam.

Surviving is his wife, Lena; four daughters, Mrs. Ruth Flackman, Mrs. Viola Allacher and Mrs. Jean Markel, all of Lincoln, and Mrs. Faye Hendry of Sherman Oaks, Calif.; one son, Leo G. of Lincoln; one brother, John of Lincoln; two sisters, Mrs. Bessie Albers and Mrs. Myrtle Leickhardt, both of Hallam; 17 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Findings In Death Case Due Friday

Lancaster County Attorney Frederick Wagener said Thursday that autopsy reports in the death of the Council Bluffs, Ia., woman "are due to arrive in my office Friday morning."

Wagener said he had been so advised by Dep. Sheriff George Lindsay of Pottawattamie County, who told him the autopsy shows that Mrs. Miriam N. Van Ness "died of a tetanus infection developing in the vaginal tract."

No detailed findings in the report, which is being mailed, were relayed from there, Wagener indicated.

"After reading the report," Wagener said, "I undoubtedly will want to confer with the doctor who performed the autopsy" before making a determination of charges against the Lincoln woman being held in the case.

'Will Be Charged'
Wagener has previously stated that definitely some charge would be filed against Mrs. Cary G. Duncan, 83, of 3228 Vine, who is being held in connection with the death, but is "waiting on the autopsy report" before making a determination of the complaint to be filed.

"The evidence (so far)," Wagener said, "is that apparently at least an abortion attempt was made" on the Council Bluffs woman.

Meanwhile an Omaha man who reportedly told authorities he obtained drugs for Mrs. Van Ness has been charged in a preliminary complaint at Council Bluffs with attempt to produce abortion. The man has been released on $3,000 bond.

Roman Hruska To Speak At Fraternal Congress

Rep. Roman Hruska of Omaha will address the evening banquet of the Nebraska Fraternal Congress meeting at the Fontenelle Hotel Oct. 14.

Mayor John Rosenblatt of Omaha will welcome the group. Mrs. Ruth Marhenke of Lincoln will preside.

Delegates from Lincoln will be Mrs. Eleanor Christensen, president of Maple Grove No. 25 and Mrs. Helen Moser.

Relief Allocated

DENVER (INS)—President Eisenhower Thursday allocated $300,000 for emergency relief to hurricane victims in New York's Suffolk County and added another $1,000,000 to the allotment previously granted for similar hurricane relief in Rhode Island.

News Around The Globe

Robbery Fails

NEW YORK (INS)—Three bandits posing as window cleaners were thwarted in their attempt to rob a suburban Laurelton bank, and one of the group was captured while his two companions fled amid a hail of police bullets.

Two of the holdup men found themselves locked outside the bank they were trying to rob when they left the bank to chase the assistant manager. The robbers, with $200,000 in the vault at stake, flubbed the theft because a quick-thinking guard, one of five employees held captive at gunpoint talked them into lowering a shade—a prearranged signal that a holdup was under way.

Escapee Nabbed

EAST DUBUQUE, Ill. (AP)—An escapee from the Iowa Men's Reformatory, who held three women as hostages and forced one of them to drive him to Dubuque, Ia., was apprehended in a tavern here late Thursday.

The prisoner, Darrell L. Watts, 24, Boone, Ia., was found by Deputy Warden Rolland Brown and a prison guard who had started a search of taverns here for him. He offered no resistance.

Gunman Falls

NEW YORK (AP)—A gunman holed up in an apartment house after wounding a patrolman Thursday and held off more than 100 police for 90 minutes before falling mortally wounded by a rain of bullets.

The gunman, identified as Robert Ricks, 47, made his last stand at a stair well at the top floor of the six-story building. He died a short time later in Harlem Hospital, riddled by bullets.

Crash Kills 10

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A bus hit a washed out section of road and plunged 200 feet into a canyon Thursday, carrying 10 persons to their death and causing injury to 13 others.

The accident occurred near the mining town of Pachuca, 60 miles northeast of here, where recent rains have heavily damaged roads.

U.S. Sits Back

WASHINGTON (INS)—The U. S. sat back Thursday and let British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden make the counter-attack on the new Russian effort to disrupt plans for the defense of Western Europe.

State Department officials refused to comment on the new Soviet call for a four-power meeting to discuss withdrawal of occupation troops from both East and West Germany.

Survives Plunge

MONTROSE, Colo. (INS)—A 22-year-old Lowry airman survived a 1,000-foot plunge into the Animas River canyon as authorities searched for two persons the dazed airman claimed were riding with him.

The accident took place near Silverton, Colo. Airman Oscar L. Kimmel of the 3424 Squadron, Lowry Air Force Base, told authorities he had two passengers when the car made a sheer drop of 150 feet when it left the Million Dollar Highway, then plunged 1,000 feet or more to the bottom of the canyon.

2 Children Die

PITTSBURGH (AP)—An auto, racing out of control down a steep hill, hurtled into a group of school children at a bus stop Thursday, killing two and injuring four others.

One of the dead was a 14-year-old school patrol captain who stuck to his post and tried to push other children from the path of the oncoming car.

Adlai Finds Swell Of Dismay Against 'Broken Promises'

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson said Thursday night he finds in Kansas "as in Maine . . . a ground swell of dismay and revolt against the foolish boasts and broken promises" of the Eisenhower administration.

It is a revolt against "the family quarrels and hopeless divisions of the Republicans, and against policies which consistently favor the few at the expense of the many," he charged in a speech for a rally of Kansas Democrats.

Copter Crash Kills 5 Men In Louisiana

... Officer Casualties

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP)—An Air Force helicopter crashed in a cow pasture five miles west of the Alexandria Air Force Base Thursday killing its five occupants.

Air Force investigators said the wreckage was found in an area with sufficient room to land. Clocks in the debris were stopped at shortly after midnight, about the time a rainstorm with stiff winds swept the area.

The names of the dead, all officers, were withheld pending notification of next of kin. Alexandria AFB authorities said two were from the base here and the other three were based elsewhere.

A "Mess"
Col. William A. Daniels, commander of the base here, said the helicopter was "pretty much of a mess" when it was found by searching sister planes about 6 a.m. Thursday.

The craft, a seven-man Sikorsky generally used in rescue work, made a routine flight to Leesville in southwest Louisiana Wednesday. It encountered bad weather on the return trip and turned back. This was the last contact had with Alexandria.

"From the looks of the wreckage," an Air Force spokesman said, "it appears that the copter dropped from a considerable height. It apparently was not hit by lightning and had sufficient gas."

Negro Signed

NEW YORK (AP)—The Metropolitan Opera said Thursday Marian Anderson, famous American Negro contralto, has been signed to sing in an opera this winter, first Negro singer ever to appear with a Metropolitan cast.

Olson Submits Lowest Pershing Bid

School Specifications Contain No Completion Date, Penalty

The Olson Construction Co., with a quotation of $510,000, was the lowest of six bidders on construction of the new 14 classroom Pershing Elementary School at 63rd and Gladstone.

The lowest bid received was on specifications with no set completion date and no penalty clause. On specifications with an Aug. 31 completion date and a $200 a day penalty clause for completion beyond that time, the Kingery Construction Co. was the low bidder with a figure of $519,696.

Superintendent of Schools Steven N. Watkins said the Board of Education would consider the bids at its Tuesday meeting. Watkins noted that even with the penalty clause, there is no assurance that the building would be completed on time.

The low bidder under those specifications, he noted, could go some 48 days beyond Aug. 31 before the $200 a day penalty reduced his price on the work to the low bid under the specifications without a completion date.

Ready Next Year
Watkins stated, however, that the Board definitely would like to have Pershing ready for use at the beginning of the next school year.

Pershing will draw students now attending Havelock and Bethany Elementary and the Northeast child center, kindergarten through third grade. The child center, with the exception of one kindergarten class, will be abandoned when Pershing is completed.

Bids will be received by the Board on Oct. 21 on the new East-ridge School. These will also be bids both with and without a completion date and penalty clause.

Bid Listed
A list of the Pershing bids, with the penalty clause bids first, followed with the bid with the clause deleted are:

Assenmacher Construction Co. $561,694 and $545,494.
Beall Construction Co $568,000 and $549,988.

W. J. Broer- Construction Co. none and $562,000.

George Cook Construction Co. $548,194 and $516,984.

Kingery Construction Co. $519,696 and $519,696.

Olson Construction Co. $534,555 and $510,000.

Also on the Board's agenda Tuesday will be a report from Watkins on another prospective school bond issue. Watkins stated he will give the Board figures on projected enrollments and construction costs.

Bonds Allocated
The last $6 million bond issue has all been allocated. Watkins said he was not yet ready to recommend the size of the new issue or time of the sale.

The superintendent has stated previously that another bond issue is essential to meet the growing school needs of the city.

New Natural Gas Supplies Coming Soon

New natural gas supplies for domestic purposes soon will be flowing into Nebraska.

Federal authorities have authorized two new construction projects costing $45,959,967. When completed, they will provide an additional 100 million cubic feet of natural gas daily in Nebraska and nearby states, according to an analysis made by the Gas Appliance Manufacturers' Association.

The projects benefiting Nebraska consist of construction of 1,179 miles of pipeline and compressor stations generating 24,000 horsepower to speed fuel through the lines.

Lincoln, Omaha and 71 smaller communities in Nebraska, Minnesota, Iowa and South Dakota will receive the bulk of the new gas supply.

Practical help from a remarkable book

SCIENCE AND HEALTH with Key to the Scriptures by MARY BAKER EDDY

Christian Scientists have found "how to have answers to their prayers," and are putting their understanding to the test in all manner of human need. They are proving—many to a remarkable degree—that Christ Jesus' method of healing by prayer is practical today.

Science and Health, the Christian Science textbook, is showing them how to solve the problems of daily life, healing fear, sickness, and lack. In gratitude they have subscribed these advertisements, and invite you to investigate for yourself.

Science and Health may be read, borrowed, or purchased at any Christian Science Reading Room, or send $3 and a copy will be mailed postpaid.

Fortunate Decision

In the light of what has happened the people of Lincoln could not have selected a more timely period in which to expand the city's water plant. The contract for a third major job in connection with the augmented water program was reviewed Wednesday with the lowest bid $119,000 below the engineer's estimate. That is so much cash in the bank.

There are minor instances in the successive steps to be taken when the actual bids have exceeded the estimated cost. But in all the major portions of the undertaking—in connection with the contracts which involve the larger sums of money—without exception the bids have been under the estimated cost.

The community is getting the full benefit of reduced material cost in some instances, a happy development.

Is It A Good Law?

Earlier in the week in Omaha the news columns reported that an Omaha judge had expressed the opinion that the law requiring a six months' suspension of a driver's license on first conviction of drunken driving is "too severe."

The law in question produced considerable legislative study and debate. It was not enacted in the spirit of impulsiveness on the spur of the moment. It stands on the statute books simply as an effort on the part of the lawmaking body to do something which it believed would lessen the very great hazard of drunken driving.

Its fruits may be open to question. Its objectives are not. If the results have not measured up to the hopes then the sound course, of course, is to redouble rigid enforcement and application. The judge had in mind the man who drives as a part of his job. If any driver, who earns his bread and butter by driving, is interested in keeping his job, he should be the first to observe the law. If he cannot shape his habits to fit in with his means of livelihood he is entitled to very little sympathy. It is a good law by every standard.

Why The Hurry?

Reports from Washington that the Atomic Energy Commission has given its approval to the Dixon-Yates power contract, a contract now the center of a storm in TVA, properly and soundly brought an immediate protest to the commission by Sen. Langer, North Dakota Republican, and Sen. Estes Kefauver, Tennessee Democrat.

Beyond the details which included a bitter battle in the 83rd Congress over the plan to augment TVA's power capacity by a contract with a private utility, a contract which it is charged insures that concern against financial loss and will lead to higher electric rates, there is one question in all of this mess.

Why the hurry to push this thing through? Until recently the details of that contract were not known. Congress, it has been charged, gave its approval in a very close vote after one of the better battles of the 83rd Congress without exact knowledge of the provisions of the contract and after TVA had protested against it. It is doubtful if a spade of dirt, if any real steps of construction could be taken in a substantial sense between now and early next January when a new Congress will take its seats.

Why the hurry? Why must this contract under hot fire be put through at this time? The expected answer could be a threatening power shortage, with the need for new facilities pressing. That is a rather thin, unsatisfactory answer, particularly when a Senate subcommittee is engaged in holding hearings which could not be held earlier.

It would not seem to be unreasonable to suggest that a matter of this importance, involving millions of dollars of the taxpayers money, be held in abeyance until more adequate study and information can be made. That is as much in the President's interest as it is the public.

The fact is that all of these developments in connection with America's settled policy in the conservation of natural resources deserve more study. The innovations that have come—changes that have brought cries of vast "give-aways"—of which belongs to the American people—simply cannot justify any quick job even though powerful groups and individuals are pounding the pavement in Washington to put on pressure. This, we believe, before it has run its course, will become one of the dominant, if not the dominant issue raised by the Eisenhower administration. What seems to be going on is a determination to get this stuff nailed down now.

Men And Irradiation

Science fiction writers are having a field day dwelling on the future change in human form brought about by the application of nuclear knowledge. They pretty well agree that the human being of the year 2,000 will have a pear shaped body with one leg ending in a foot mutated to be a perfect fit for the foot throttle of an atomic automobile.

We don't know about that. The present human form has been pretty satisfactory and a lot of institutions have been built around it. For instance, imagine a one-legged pear shaped half-back trying to execute a fourth down punt.

A better field for irradiation is the one of plants. The University of Nebraska agriculture science department, headed by Dr. E. F. Frolik, is currently doing interesting things in agronomy, experimenting with irradiated seeds. Besides turning out a lot of peculiar looking plants that have had their metabolism all mixed up by taking one or two too many at the irradiation jar, the department is finding that just the right amount can produce mutations of especially good productive traits. Current experiments in soybeans indicate that new strains can be produced, stronger in stem to support bigger yields and virtually invincible to plant disease.

America is still experiencing amazement over the striking progress made by science and industry in today's agriculture. But an enthusiast can take a look into these new irradiation laboratories and say, "You ain't seen nothin' yet."

If anything we should be enlarging, not curtailing, the weather service. It is not infallible in its predictions. Frequently it misses. But the warning of approaching storms of a severe character does alert people, and more and more the weather bureau has been undertaking a magnificent job of real service to the public. The temptation invariably arises to suggest that economy can be practiced elsewhere to advantage.

We may be wrong but there is some basis for an impression that among the long-standing services of government hardest hit is the postal service. Its recurring deficits were steadily mounting. When Postmaster General Summerfield took over under the Eisenhower administration the need for increased rates for postal service got emphasis. But increased rates seemingly have not compensated for curtailed service. Our attention recently was called to one incident where a postal patron claimed to have mailed a letter in Lincoln, addressed to a Lincoln address, which reached its destination four days later. If that is the case then we are back to the era before the Pony Express when the frontier was real and disturbed by no human sound.

We want economy. In no less a sense we demand service in this modern age where quick means of communication and transportation have all but abolished the element of time. Which raises the question when it comes to government service of what really is important and what is not. By the time an answer can be obtained the individual is flat on his back, gasping for breath, completely exhausted. We are old fashioned enough and sufficiently set in our ways to believe that the old time basic services of the government are important even though many many new demands upon government have arisen.

A Toss-Up

In our own way of taking political poll, it looked significant the other day when presumably Republican handbills in California led an elephant or to a platform from which Democratic Sen. Estes Kefauver was speaking. The elephant sized up the situation and trade an inglorious retreat, waving his trunk. But the complicating part came when the senator, sighting the loose-swinging trunk, also retreated. From that we would conclude that things are about even—seven politically out in California.

DREW PEARSON U.N.-Americans Lead In Latin America

En Route Through South America—Jottings from a South American.

Notebook—In Washington you don't hear much about the United Nations except the rantings of Vishinsky or debates over Red China. But down here the UN is doing a great job for the Andean Indians of Peru, Ecuador, Bolivia, Enrique de Lozada, a long time in the U.S. with the UN and the Nelson Rockefeller Committee, is working with Bill Dillingham of Philadelphia and Swarthmore, Pa., to resettle several thousand Indians. Up on Lake Titicaca, highest lake in the world, they have established an Indian-farm co-op. Since the UN didn't want to work on land expropriated by the government which might later be litigated under the new land reform, Lozada persuaded his friend, J. Sanfines, to give the Indians 1,000,000 acres of land. The Indians then got acquiescent, also took 400 head of Holsteins and 1,500 head of Herefords. They had been caring for them for years, they said, so the cattle should go with the land. But Dillingham finally persuaded the Indians to pay for the cattle on the installment plan and, believe it or not, they are now ahead with their payments. Captain Sanfines, the man who donated the million acres, is a former student of Iowa State University and West Point who later put the Bolivian army to work at irrigation, well-drilling and health projects instead of politics. However, he rowed with the new "National Revolutionary Movement" and is now in exile. What President Paz needs most is to get some of this energetic young blood back.

Diving in Titicaca—The man who knows most about Lake Titicaca is Victor Andrade, now Bolivian ambassador to Washington. He was exiled to an island by the previous conservative regime. Braving the cold of Lake Titicaca shortly will be William Mardorf, U. S. frogman who has signed a contract with the Bolivian government to dive for Inca gold thrown into the lake several hundred years ago. Mardorf has spotted one area where the Incas worshipped the sun gods by throwing gold in the water, and if the shores of the lake are not too steep he may recover a fortune. Most of the lake is extremely deep, however, and the gold may have slid down beyond recovery. Mardorf will not use a conventional diving suit. Oxygen can't be pumped down to him at such high altitudes. He will wear a Navy frog suit with three oxygen tanks strapped to his back. Under the suit he will wear plenty of heavy underwear, for his chief problem is icy water. He hopes to stay under two hours on each dive. Previous Bolivian governments would sign no contracts for the recovery of Inca gold for fear of Indian uprisings. The Paz government is so popular with the Indians it fears no revolts.

ED FITZHUGH

One Honeymoon Does Not A Marriage Make

Should honeymoons be outlawed? That was the issue before the house, and the argument was vehement. The "house," it should be made plain at the outset, consisted of four of us at lunch, and the question was academic in the extreme, considering that none of the four was in any foreseeable danger of a honeymoon. Unless, that is, it might be a third or fourth one.

Tom started it, quoting from a magazine article which had evidently maintained that honeymoons gave marriage a bad start. It must have been a convincing article because Tom was convinced. Fred, who hadn't read it, thought from what Tom said that it made sense. He was anti-honeymoon. Jack and I took the other side.

As with most luncheon arguments, this one was mostly notable for its lack of a winner. When it ended we were still divided, two to two, pro-honeymoon and anti-honeymoon.

As well as I can recall—and allowing for the fact that I am a prejudiced observer—the arguments went this way.

Young married people ought to avoid honeymoons because unfamiliar surroundings complicated by traveling, sight-seeing and the strangeness of a new relationship make the initial period of adjustment to one another's habits and mannerisms more difficult than it should be. As a result, tempers grow short and bickering mars the last days of the honeymoon, and the marriage is off to a bad start. Young people ought to stay home where familiar surroundings do not add unnecessary complications to the business of finding out one another's hitherto hidden faults.

On the other side of the argument, it was pointed out that the honeymoon gives the young people their chance to meet the first clashes of personality and habits under conditions which minimize them rather than giving them undue importance, and that the excitement of going places helps to gloss over the disillusionment of finding that the bridegroom leaves the soap in the tub and the bride squeezes the toothpaste tube from the top. A honeymoon, also, removes the newlyweds from within firing range of in-laws, friends and others who might intend well but who can mess up a marriage in a hurry.

In very brief summary, those were our arguments. Nobody convinced anybody else. I kept wondering why we were picking up the checks when I got the answer.

Tom and Fred had started their marriages without honeymoons. Jack and I, with our respective brides in bygone years, had gone on honeymoons. All four marriages were highly successful.

DORIS FLEESON Ike Stays Away From Capital And The Press

DENVER — When White House reporters heard President Eisenhower apologize to a Casper, Wyo., audience for spending "far too much time in Washington," their jaws dropped down to their typewriters.

They have been here, except for a few brief excursions, for night on seven weeks and still have only a tentative date—Oct. 15—for returning to the Capital. Mrs. Eisenhower is ready to go home—but the President prefers the informality and privacy he enjoys away from 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue.

No President in history has spent as much of his time out of Washington and with so little apparent evidence that the reins of government remain strongly in his hands.

Emphasis must be on the word "apparent." What contact reporters have with the President consists almost wholly of the few hours each morning he and they spend in separate offices—at the Lowry Field. They have been steadily refused a press conference even during the great events in Europe with which he was once so intimately associated. So they have not had even a glimpse into what he is reading and what are his thoughts and judgments.

He has successfully communicated this aura of aloofness to his small staff and to the friends who play golf and bridge with him. Between the reporters and the Eisenhower entourage there is none of that lazy "chewing the fat" or congenial banter which are so integral a part of the customary relations between the press and politicians—and yield so rich a harvest of mutual understanding and mutual profit.

The president of the United States has immense inherent news value. This fact combined with the established techniques of reporting has helped to conceal how little "hard news" the President has been making. If he had had to compete for the headlines, it would have been self evident.

The important thing is the results of the Eisenhower technique, and it is about this that reporters speculate in their idle hours around the magic lantern in the Brown Palace press room.

One thing should be said at once. President Eisenhower is an atomic age jet air plane president. He can pick up a telephone and talk to anyone around the world. He can bring anyone he wants to him in a matter of hours and he can be back in Washington in a few hours if he chooses. As a general during the war and at NATO he learned how to take advantage of this new flexibility of contact and action.

If it were suggested to him that the technique was not altogether suited to the intensely human art of politics—which is the art of the possible, not the art of command—he would probably be genuinely surprised.

Yet two of the President's close personal and political associates—House Majority Leader Halleck and Gen. Gruenther, NATO commander—were here last week and they indicated clearly that the administration and the country were suffering from the present vacuum of news. It would be intensely interesting to know if they tried to explain this to the President.

Doesn't Cheesecake Come From A Bakery?

By MONA B. PARKER
Oh! "Grappappy Sixswallers" delves rather thoroughly into research on gray hair, both cause and effect, and the questions he comes up with in the Bertrand Herald are also the answers. . . . Why, asks "Grappappy," did he have to go roller skating in the new pair of jeans and tear the knee out? . . . Why was that puddle of mud so inviting when he wore no overshoes? . . . Why did he bring that boy home to dinner on wash day? . . . Why are his marks in school so low? . . . Why was the emergency brake released when the tire was being changed? . . . Why is it necessary to bring frogs and the like into the house to show Mother? . . . What seems to be so inviting about a tree house and its danger of falling to the ground? . . . Each one adds its bit to the parental gray thalch, a gradual process but a certain one.

Then there was the precocious three-year-old pint-size in Ne-high who took a big bite out of his soap eraser and commented on the "tough candy." His mother explained its use to him and asked him to spit it out, but he chewed on.

"Maybe it will 'rase the purple crayola I chewed this morning," he reasoned.

A Hastings youngster is just about to give up as far as one of his teachers is concerned. It seems the gal in question is so unknowing that "she actually thinks cheesecake comes from the bakery."

An Orleans mother had always impressed on her young son the importance of keeping the Sabbath, with its abstinence from the daily week-day labors. However, prior to church one morning, it was necessary to sew some essential buttons on the young man's clothes before they could leave. It is the mother's habit to sit with one hand spread out across her cheek, and this she did that morning, listening intently to the sermon—and displaying yet on her finger for the whole congregation to see, the thimble she had used in her pre-church sewing duties.

Many sportsmen are just what the term suggests, and an uneven match is never to their liking. And so it was that a group of them at Twin Lakes near Benkelman stepped in and took a hand when a battle for survival tossed all the odds one way. Attracted by the apparent struggles of a mudhen, or coot, out on the east lake, a rescue mission was organized and rowed to the assistance of the bird. It was found that a huge turtle held the mudhen by one leg. To free the frightened fowl, Percy Hardwick reached down into the water, grabbed the turtle by the tail and hauled both turtle and bird into the boat. Now on the defensive, the turtle loosed his hold and attacked Mr. Hardwick, but lost his head in the attempt. The mudhen, a badly gnawed leg notwithstanding, was able to return to the water.

A young friend of W. H. Plourd's was bemoaning the fact that it was necessary for him to work a "ear or so before starting college." The young man got no sympathy from the Nance County Journal editor, who "told him he was lucky. The young person who has been financed through high school will find college training much more valuable after a year of hustling and finding what kind of trees dollars grow on. That year can be quite an education in itself."

HERE'S OTHMAN

Diamonds And Gold Lie About

CARACAS, VENEZUELA — The Othman diamond mining expedition (it was Hilda's idea) to the jungles far south of the Orinoco River is about to take off.

This has taken some doing and the co-operation of numerous kind-ly Caracacenos, but now we have stowed in the hammocks, the mosquito nets, and a few cans of tomato soup and we are heading for Uruyen, which appears on no map and which is inhabited solely by the Camarata Indians and their friend, Alessandro Laine, the diamond man.

It took Laine six weeks last year to chop his way south from Ciudad Bolivar to his headquarters in the lost world, but when he came out he brought with him $30,000 worth of sparklers, plus a sack of gold nuggets. Since then he has been flying in by small, private plane.

For the last two weeks he's had his Indians filling in holes and smoothing off bumps in the Gran Sabana to make a full-sized landing strip hard by his thatched hut.

A couple of days ago Lineas Aeropostal Venezolana sent in a survey ship to see whether Laine's private airport was safe for commercial airliners.

The inspectors reported back that it was; they said the field was grassy and smooth as a tennis court. They suggested only that we be careful to arrive and leave by daylight. There are no landing lights at Uruyen.

So with a few other diamond hunters we take off in the morning via a DC-3 of LAV for the unknown land of green jungle, vast plains, waterfalls and untold riches. Laine already is beginning to worry about whether he'll be able to deliver. Diamonds aren't so easy to find, unless you're lucky, but he guarantees that all voyagers energetic enough to do some digging will find gold.

Even as I write this Hilda is shopping for a good, sharp shovel. She's already got her jungle pants and a jar of bug goo to foil the insects, but I regret to report that she is a sissy. There are two kinds of hammocks available for diamond hunters. The first is a plain hammock woven of straw and over this you drape your mosquito netting.

This is a cool and satisfactory way to sleep. I am told, but Hilda chose the other variety of hammock. It has a kind of built-in canvas tent attached, with netting only on one side. It is said to be hot inside of one of these, but, on the other hand, it is handy against cloudbusts.

Hilda said she wasn't thinking about any jungle showers; her thought was that she didn't want any tigers, snakes or monkeys trying to share her bed. I think I can understand her feelings, even though Laine insists his Indians will keep fires burning all night against visits from jungle fauna.

He also said not to worry about food. The red-skinned ones will provide fish, game, bread fruit and wild mangos. Mrs. O. said maybe so, but she'd take along a few cans of soup from the U.S.A., just in case, and maybe a chocolate bar.

Note Of Humility

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Joseph Welch, a Boston lawyer born in Iowa, represented the Army in the dramatic McCarthy hearings at Washington in May and June. He alone emerged with admired public approval to those who watched the performance. He was recently given an honorary degree at his alma mater—Grinnell College. In his speech of acceptance, Judge Welch sounded a new note of humility. He said that he was admired for his profound wisdom when he sat silent but that the real reason was that he felt confused. If he expressed himself in a bit of humor, the public credited him with making pleasant gestures designed to confuse the enemy.

"The truth about me is that I am not actually real," he said. What other man in the public eye ever dared to say as much? Imagine such words coming from Joe McCarthy's lips!

What Is The Score

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In the "give away" activities of the Eisenhower administration, Nebraska is being sadly neglected and overlooked. Here we stand—staunchly Republican on every vote in congress. The administration can always count on six Nebraska votes.

When the Dixon-Yates give-away came along it went to interests below the Mason-Dixon line. When the Rouge River forest lands, with valuable timber on them, were sold under the guise of mineral rights for $5 per acre, the buyers were from Alabama. And wasn't it

Panel Discussion To Highlight Stock Meet

Tour Of Feed Lots Included

COLUMBUS, Neb. (A)—A panel will discuss the question: "Can the Feeder Make a Profit in 1955," at the Nebraska Livestock Feeders Convention here Oct. 14.

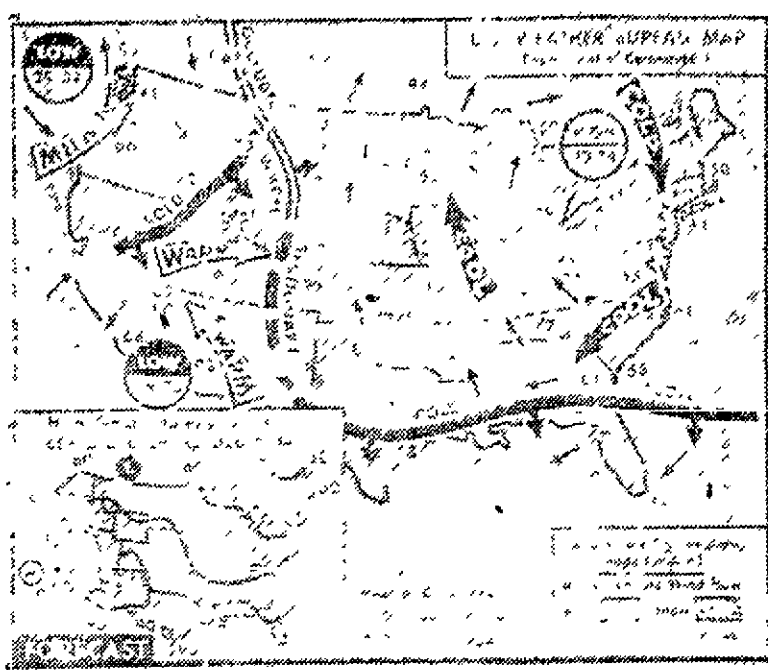

Making up the panel, moderated by Don K. Spalding, will be Walter Chace, Pilger; Bob Cooper, Omaha; Charles Kaup, Scribner; Lorence Fischer, Wakefield; A. F. Magdanz, Pierce, and J. M. Shonsey, Omaha.

Speakers on the afternoon session of the meeting will be Thomas W. Dowe, University of Nebraska research specialist; William J. Loeffel, chairman of the animal husbandry department of the University of Nebraska; Francis A. Kutish, Iowa State College economist, and Carl F. Neumann, secretary of the National Livestock and Meat Board, Chicago.

The morning session will be devoted to a tour of feed lots.

The election of officers and report of the resolutions committee will come following the afternoon panel.

A banquet is scheduled for the evening.

Partly Cloudy, Rising Temperatures

Fair weather with continued low temperatures is forecast for the eastern portion of the nation Friday. Partly cloudy weather is expected in most of the states west of the Mississippi Valley. Temperature rises are expected in the Plains states and the western Lakes region. Scattered showers are predicted for the Rocky Mountain states, Florida and for southern Texas. It will be sunny in Nevada and California with little change in temperature in these states. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Trucker Risked Life In Handling Run-Away Vehicle

OMAHA (A)—"I just thought it was my job."

That was what Clifford P. Denny, 25, Omaha truck driver, said when Omaha police credited him with risking his life for the safety of others by sticking to the wheel of his run-away truck.

The vehicle smashed into the foundation of a lumber supply company building. Denny was cut and bruised when he jumped from the cab just as the truck hit the wall.

Denny had backed the big vehicle to a loading dock when the drive shaft snapped. He had stepped down from the cab, but ran after the run-away truck, climbed back in, and said Police Sgt. John Bozak, gave an "amazing demonstration of courage and driving skill."

"I tried to keep it away from cars and people," said Denny.

Highway Situation Criticized During Demo Candidates Event

Lincoln Star Special
TECUMSEH, Neb.—More than 125 persons from three counties attended the Democratic candidates' dinner here at the Community Building, sponsored by the Tecumseh Kiwanis Club.

Democratic candidates for county, state, and national offices were present at the dinner. William Ritchie, candidate for governor, Keith Neville, candidate for the Senate full term; Frank Morrison, candidate for Congress—1st District; and James Green, candidate for the Senate four-year term, spoke.

Ritchie was highly critical of Nebraska's highway situation. He stated that one of his major projects, if elected, would be a more realistic paving program for the state.

Would Dismiss Res
The gubernatorial candidate added that he would dismiss State Engineer L. N. Riss and his assistants as "they are more wedded to certain road contractors' interests than the interests of the traveling public."

Advocating a replacement tax for real estate and personal property taxes, Ritchie suggested the utilization of the "added value tax." He declared that real estate and personal property are carrying more than their fair share of the tax load and that the added value tax would cut those taxes by 20 per cent.

Keith Neville scoffed at the idea that the election of Democrats would wreck the President's program.

"As soon as the President begins to fulfill the pledges made to the farmer and the laborer in the 1952 campaign, I, if elected, would be the first to support him," he stated.

"First Duty To People"
Frank Morrison said that there are no provisions in the Constitution for the two-party system, but that political parties merely form the mechanics for carrying out a representative form of government.

Morrison emphasized that the representative's first duty was not to his party label, but rather to the people who elected him.

James Green pointed out that Nebraska's Congressional delegation, unlike those of Iowa, South Dakota, North Dakota, Minnesota, and Kansas, voted to reduce the farmer's income by reducing parity from 90 to 82 per cent.

Critical of the farm program, Green said states surrounding Nebraska backed their farmers by voting against the Benson program, while Nebraska's delegation supported Benson.

More Wells Added To Ohio's String

SIDNEY, Neb. (A)—Ohio Oil Co. apparently has added two more oil wells to its impressive western Nebraska string.

Ohio reported 1,505 feet of oil was recovered in a drift stem test from the D sand of the Griffith No. 1, the company's first venture in Kimball County's long field.

Drillers planned to go still deeper.

At Ohio's Sparks No. 1, northeast of Sidney, recovery in a D zone drill stem test was 560 feet of oil. Drilling there also was going deeper in search of a greater deposit.

Judge Palmer Remains On Limited Duty

Move To Give Omahan More Work Defeated

OMAHA (U)—Four municipal judges Thursday decided that a fifth, Lester Palmer, should not be assigned cases.

Judges Patrick O'Connor, Jay P. Gibbs and Frank Nimitz signed a statement suggested by Judge James P. O'Brien.

The statement said: "Judge O'Brien recommends that the presiding judge does not assign any cases to Judge Palmer for the reason there has been no sufficient evidence presented which alters or modifies the previous decision and action of the judges concerning the assignment of cases to Judge Palmer."

Palmer was put on limited duty last January after serving a five-day jail sentence for leaving the scene of a property damage accident.

He was virtually idled in June after he pleaded guilty to three misdemeanor charges in Council Bluffs.

Thursday's meeting was called by Presiding Judge Patrick O'Connor, who said he approved restoring Judge Palmer to duty and would ask other judges to okay the move.

"We are short of judges," O'Connor said.

Dance Jamboree Benefits Oxford Pool Campaign

Lincoln Star Special
OXFORD, Neb.—In an effort to increase the Oxford swimming pool fund, a huge square dance jamboree was held at the high school gymnasium here Thursday night.

Several months ago interested parents formed the Oxford Swimming Pool Association. After organizing they solicited the help of all organizations in Oxford to work toward a fund, aimed at keeping children out of dangerous sandpits in this area.

Since that time, the fund has been growing due to benefits from a softball tournament, a dance, car washing by a church group, ice cream socials, and other activities.

Four square dance callers, headed by Master of Ceremonies Bill Frazier, attended the latest benefit for the swimming pool fund. Dale Eickman of Oxford delivered the welcome to the crowd attending.

R. P. Kepler Dies; Sidney Attorney

SIDNEY, Neb.—Funeral services are scheduled here Friday for Richard Proudfoot Kepler, 82, prominent Sidney attorney.

He was a prominent Republican and as Cheyenne County attorney for 12 years handled some of the county's most famous criminal cases.

A native of Davenport, Ia., he was graduated in 1886 from the state University of Iowa where he was a football letter winner in 1894 and 1895.

Smoky Hill Work OK'd

OMAHA (U)—The go-ahead for $6,382,400 in construction at Smoky Hill Air Force Base, Salina, Kan., has been given by the Army Engineers office here. Airfield paving, lighting, maintenance facilities, roads and security facilities are included.

Elyria's Wentek Honored By Town

Lincoln Star Special
ELYRIA, Neb.—It was a big day for the Elyria community when friends gathered to help one of its most popular businessmen celebrate his 25th year of business in Elyria.

Philip Wentek, auto mechanic and later welder and repairman in Elyria for 25 years, was given a television set at a surprise celebration held in his honor. He and his wife and daughter were honored guests at a dance, climaxing the anniversary activities.

He entered the garage and hardware business in Elyria during the depression years when he left the farm after successive crop failures. Later he entered the welding business.

Dodge Names 4-H Champions

Wegner Langemeier

Lincoln Star Special
SCRIBNER, Neb.—Richard Langemeier of Hooper and Marcella Wagner of Scribner were named Dodge County champions in 4-H achievement for the past year, the county extension office announced.

Langemeier was also chosen county champion in 4-H crops projects, and Miss Wagner also placed high in the county for clothing projects and in girl's 4-H records.

Longtime AF Reserve Officers Are Honored

OMAHA (U)—Nineteen Air Force Reserve Officers with 10 years or more service were honored here at the Omaha Reserve Center.

Lt. Col. Laurence C. Forbis, Bellevue, was honored for completing 20 years service. Those honored for completing 10 years included: Lt. Col. Edward Pavelka, Lincoln; Maj. Leslie Parker, Lincoln; Maj. Oren Paulson, Fremont; Capt. Robert Pease, Lincoln, and 1st Lt. Junius Leonhirth, Lincoln.

Youngster Will Attend Classes Via Microphone

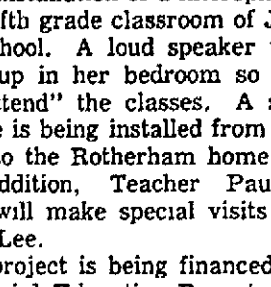

NORFOLK, Neb. (U)—Jennie Lee Rotherham, 10, who has suffered numerous leg fractures in her life and now has another one, is going to have her education brought right to her bedroom from the classroom she would be in if able to get about.

The Board of Education has approved installation of a microphone in the fifth grade classroom of Jennie's school. A loud speaker will be set up in her bedroom so she can "attend" the classes. A special line is being installed from the school to the Rotherham home.

In addition, Teacher Pauline Marty will make special visits to Jennie Lee.

The project is being financed by the Special Education Department of Nebraska.

It's such a comfort to know my guest linens are CLOROX-clean!

CLOROX makes linens more than white... it makes them sanitary, too!

You'll be delighted with the snowy-whiteness and freshness of your linens when they're Clorox-clean. For Clorox removes dinginess, stains, even scorch and mildew. It deodorizes, too! And, so important to health, Clorox disinfects... provides greater germ-killing efficiency than any other home laundering product!

What's more, Clorox is safe for your finest white and color-fast cottons and linens because it's extra gentle...made free from caustic by a patented formula exclusive with Clorox. And Clorox, a liquid, contains no gritty particles to damage wash or washer.

CLOROX makes your bathroom extra clean, too!

Yes, when your bathroom is Clorox-clean, it wins guest approval every time. For Clorox removes stains, deodorizes, disinfects... leaves bathroom surfaces sparkling, fresh, sanitary. Clorox is the most efficient disinfectant of its kind and hundreds of public health departments recommend the Clorox type of disinfection. See the label for many other uses and directions.

You get all these benefits in a Clorox-clean wash!

1. Snowy-white linens... Clorox removes gray and yellow dinginess.
2. Bright fast colors... Clorox removes dulling film.
3. Lovely-looking linens... Clorox removes ugly stains, even scorch and mildew.
4. Fresh, clean-smelling linens... Clorox deodorizes.
5. Sanitary linens... Clorox is the most efficient germ-killer of its kind.

When it's CLOROX-clean...it's SAFER for family health

7th Fleet No Certain Barrier Against Red Assault On Formosa

... Military Concerned Over Junks

WASHINGTON (INS)—Concern was expressed in Washington Thursday about just how effective the modern weapons of the U. S. 7th Fleet would be against a junk-borne Chinese Communist invasion of Formosa.

The feeling was that the fleet would have a good chance of overcoming the difficulties in the operation, but officials pointed out that in their planning they cannot consider the fleet as an impregnable barrier to the Communists.

They pointed out a number of difficulties, including:

1. Time and weather. With the right winds and tides a fleet of Chinese junks could leave the mainland in late afternoon and arrive at Formosa at dawn. Given a misty or foggy afternoon, the junks would be almost entirely free of air interception during the crossing of the Formosa Straits.

2. Camouflage. It would be most difficult to detect a buildup for invasion because the Chinese ports already are jammed with fishing-junks which are the kind of vessels the Reds probably would use in any invasion attempt. Well-informed sources in Washington think little of the frequently-expressed belief that the Reds would have to tip their hand by massing a large number of special junks to carry an invasion army across the straits.

Difficult Targets

3. The junks themselves. Chinese fishing junks are large enough to carry about 40 fully equipped soldiers but are small enough to present a most difficult target for attacking aircraft. Strafing cannot be counted on to sink a junk and experts in Washington believe that direct hits with bombs would be necessary in most instances to sink one of the fishing vessels.

For these reasons important officials in Washington doubt that a junk-borne Chinese amphibious army would be a "turkey shoot" for U. S. Navy airmen.

The Chinese Reds have stepped up their threats to invade Formosa since the Indochina armistice was signed. President Eisenhower said that if the Communists make the try they will have to run through the 7th Fleet to reach Formosa.

The officials who discussed the problem of defending the island made it clear they were talking about the difficulties of intercepting and destroying a junk fleet at sea. After an invasion army was landed on Formosan beaches it would be most vulnerable to U. S. Navy air attack. The critical period of any amphibious landing is the first few hours on the hostile beach.

Seventh Fleet destroyers and other small, fast warships would be much more effective against a junk fleet if they were able to intercept it in the 10 to 14 hours it was afloat and if the Chinese were not protected effectively by their jet fighters.

Chinese Communist control of Formosa would be valuable for Russia as well as China.

It has long been recognized by U. S. military authorities that Communist control of Formosa would threaten the U. S. position in the Philippines and Okinawa primarily and would pose a potential threat to Japan.

That is why Gen. Douglas MacArthur for years insisted upon the importance of Formosa to the whole defense arc off the eastern coast of the Asian mainland.

Ike's Farm House Nears Completion

President Eisenhower's farm house near Gettysburg, Pa. nears completion as nurserymen plant two twenty-foot high American Holly trees in the rear of the house. The exterior of the house is completely finished and all that remains is the painting and wiring of the interior of the home. At left is the barn. (AP Wire-photo.)

Simmons To Study Contempt Matter

Nebraska Attorney General Clarence S. Beck Thursday appointed Robert Simmons Jr., Scottsbluff, as a special assistant attorney general to handle a contempt matter on which a State Bar Assn. committee has reported.

Court has been made by the Bar Association's committee on the unauthorized practice of law.

Beck said Simmons would study the committee's report and the material it has accumulated to determine whether a contempt action should be commenced.

Two Men Injured In Scooter Crash

S. T. Miller of 2501 LaFayette was reported in good condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital after injuring his right knee in a motor scooter-car accident Thursday afternoon.

A passenger on the scooter, Robert Sullivan, 17, of 2025 Harrison, suffered a possible broken ankle. It was believed, though, the ankle was only sprained.

The Miller scooter was going north on 13th when it collided with a car turning west on M. Driver of the car was Robert D. Lohr, 39, of 1116 No. 24.

Sullivan was treated and released from the hospital. Miller was being held for observation.

Coed Is Autumn Bride

MRS. LEWIS EUGENE LAFLIN, JR.

White cathedral candles burning in bronze candelabra, and tall arrangements of white chrysanthemums and greenery, formed the chancel decor at the First Methodist Church in Falls City, Sunday afternoon, Oct. 3, for the marriage of Miss Virginia Grace Reavis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Reavis of Falls City, and Lt. Lewis Eugene Laffin Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Eugene Laffin of Lincoln. The double ring ceremony was solemnized at 4 o'clock by the Rev. Hans Kochheim.

The candles were lighted by Miss Kathryn McCleery and Miss Jeanne McCleery of Beatrice, cousins of the bride, as a prelude of organ music was presented by Miss Gertrude Long. Miss Long also played the wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Paul Zimmer as she sang Grieg's "I Love Thee," and "The Lord's Prayer," Malotte.

Wearing identical frocks of crystalite were the maid of honor, Miss Carol Morehead of Falls City, in aqua, and the bridesmaids, Miss Linda Butman and Miss Barbara Arendt of Falls City, in tulip pink, and Miss Leah Rae Ketter, Falls City, and Miss Patti Weston, Beatrice, in turquoise. Fashioned on princess lines, their costumes were accented by crisp bows at the back. They wore nose veils held by bandeaux of frock-toned velvet, and carried bouquets of roses and asters.

For her wedding, the bride chose a period gown of white satin touched with sequin-embroidered Chantilly lace. A deeply-squared yoke of illusion and long lace sleeves accented the bodice of lace-over-satin, and beneath the snug waist, the lace extended into a wide front panel to trim the satin skirt, which ended in a train. A brimmed half-hat of jeweled satin held her veil of illusion, and she carried a cascade of white orchids and Stephanotis.

Robert Laffin of Crab Orchard served his brother as best man, and seating the guests were Robert Serr, Cincinnati, O., David Weber, James Lowell and Robert Lemon, all of Lincoln.

A reception for 200 guests was held in the parlors of the church. Following a wedding trip to the Ozarks, the couple will reside at Ft. Sill, Okla., where the bridegroom will be stationed with the armed forces. A former student at the University of Nebraska, the bride is a member of Delta Gamma Sorority. Lt. Laffin is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and a member of Delta Tau Delta.

AROUND THE TOWN

IT'S to be a busy week end, and we wish we had a few extra inches so we could tell you some of the things that are planned. But happily there always is another dawn—and we'll do our talking tomorrow—

WE have just about space enough to tell you that Mrs. F. M. Andrus and Mrs. Goldie Wilson have returned to Lincoln after a three weeks stay in Detroit and Grand Rapids, Mich.

AND that also on the homecomers' list is Mrs. E. O. Erickson who is back in town from California where she spent three weeks in Lynwood, where she visited her mother, Mrs. Theresa Crawford, and her sister, Mrs. Henry Griffing—and in Downey where she was the guest of her sister, Lorraine Reeder Bishop.

MENTION of Mrs. Erickson reminds us that today is the day she will be a luncheon hostess at the University Club when she entertains the members of her bridge eightsome. The group will remain at the club for bridge.

AAUW Group To Read Play

The play reading group of the Lincoln branch of the American Association of University Women will meet at 7:30 o'clock, Saturday evening, at the home of Mrs. George C. Ernst, 2045 Euclid.

This will be the group's first meeting of the season, and a discussion on the play featured in the October issue of the Theater Arts Magazine has been planned.

Any AAUW member interested in the theater is invited to attend and to call Mrs. Ernst, 3-1644.

We Hear That

Mr. and Mrs. John N. Buechel have as their houseguests their two daughters, Mrs. William Brizendine (Lucille Buechel), and Mrs. Leo Kaczmarek (Frances Buechel), and four grandsons, Nicky and Billy Brizendine and Roger and Tommy Kaczmarek. Mrs. Brizendine and her sons will visit in Lincoln several weeks before returning to their home in San Antonio, Tex. Former residents of Omaha, Mrs. Kaczmarek and her sons will leave this week end for Sioux City, Ia., where they will join Mr. Kaczmarek in their new home.

SOMEONE told us that Ramsey Beachly of Denver would be in town this week end—the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Beachly. Mr. Beachly, who has been attending a meeting of the Nebraska Bankers' Association in Omaha, arrives Saturday morning, and will leave on Sunday to return home.

THEN we heard that Mrs. Edgar F. Culley of Miami, Fla., is in Lincoln for a very brief stay with her brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. James T. Googe.

THINK we might find room to tell you that Miss Ann Beynon celebrated her birthday anniversary Thursday evening when she entertained at dinner at the University Club. Among the 12 guests was another October birthday celebrant, Miss Barbara Farnsworth, whose anniversary was on Oct. 6.

FAREWELLS can have their happy side—especially when a party is involved—And on Sunday, when Miss Judy Schorr is hostess at the University Club's English breakfast, it will be a "goodbye" affair for Miss Joan Mary Spangler who with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Spangler, leaves soon for the Spanglers' new home in Honolulu.

Miss Schorr has invited nine guests for the breakfast following which the group will attend a movie. JUST learned that Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ruff of Rock Island, Ill., will be in Lincoln for the week end—and that on Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Talbot will entertain for them at the University Club.

FROM Cottey College, Nevada, Mo., comes word that Miss Ann Louise Eno, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Eno, and a freshman at Cottey this year, has been named to membership in Alpha Phi, one of Cottey's four societies.

Sheridan PTA Plans Coffee

One of a series of coffees sponsored by Sheridan PTA will be held Friday morning at the school when mothers of sixth grade pupils will meet for an informal discussion at 9:30 o'clock.

Faculty attending will be Mrs. Mabel Pemberton, Mrs. Jane Zellers and Mrs. Maxine Mapes, and chairman of the hostess committee will be Mrs. Corwin Moore. She will be assisted by Mrs. Fred Davie, Mrs. John Brown and Mrs. Bruce Hazen.

Double Ring Service

The marriage of Miss Betty Ann Chrastil, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph B. Chrastil of Hallam, and John E. Zelenka, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Zelenka of Milligan was solemnized Thursday afternoon, Oct. 7, at the home of the bride's parents. Lighted white candles in floor candelabra placed against a screen of woodwardia formed the background for the double ring service, which was read by the Rev. H. C. Cordis in the presence of members of the family and a small group of friends.

Attending the bride were Miss Louise Pospisil of Lindsay and Miss Margie Kolar of Exeter, who wore similar, full-skirted frocks of nylon net and lace in pastel shades of pink and blue. They carried nosegays of white and pink chrysanthemums. Costumed in white nylon net over taffeta was the flower girl, Miss Janet Chrastil, sister of the bride, and Miss Carolyn Chrastil, also a sister of the bride, lighted the candles.

The bride appeared in a gown of white nylon tulle and lace. Long, fitted sleeves and a Peter Pan collar accented the snug bodice of lace, and the lace was repeated in the trim of the full tulle skirt. A tiara of seed pearls and sequins held her fingertip illusion veil, and she carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Serving as best man was John Chrastil, brother of the bride, and the usher was Frank Zoubecek of Tobias.

Chiang 'Warns' Russia

Chinese On Mainland Would Rise Against Soviets, He Asserts

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEH, Formosa (U)—President Chiang Kai-shek said Thursday his armies could whip Russia if it intervened in any Nationalist invasion of Red China because the Chinese people would rise and fight the Soviets.

In the exclusive interview, the generalissimo predicted the same fate would await Russia as overtook Japan—a whole people rising in wrath against the foreigners.

It was noted that N. S. Krushchev, secretary of the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party, reportedly gave assurances in Peiping last week that Russia would support plans for an attack on Formosa.

"If you counter-attack the mainland and Russia intervenes, what then?" the generalissimo was asked.

Began 30 Years Ago
"The Soviet Union," Chiang replied, "began 30 years ago the process of training and equipping the Chinese Communists so that they could carry out, by proxy, Russia's conquest of the mainland."

"Today, the mainland might appear to some people to be under the Chinese Communist party but it actually is under control of Soviet Russia."

Chiang then recalled that the Japanese militarists before 1937 concealed themselves behind the cloak of the northern Chinese warlords in encroaching on Chinese soil. When the Japanese came out in the open in 1937, the people rose and fought the invaders.

"The Soviet Union," Chiang continued, "is still hiding behind the scenes its control of the Chinese Communist party and by these tactics has deceived many people, both on the mainland and in other countries."

"If the Soviet Union in the future comes out into the open, mobilizes troops, and fights with our nationalist army on the mainland, the whole Chinese people will rise up and fight against the Russians. Russia could never conquer us in a fight on Chinese soil."

Chiang was confident his forces would triumph once they attacked the mainland. Asked why he was confident, he replied:

95% Against Reds
"Ninety-five per cent of the people on the mainland are opposed to the Chinese Communists. As soon as the Nationalist army could occupy a foothold on the mainland for three months, or at the most six, then the people would rise and join us in the fight against the Communists."

"Communist troops would begin to defect. They would come over in increasing numbers—first in small groups, then in battalions, regiments and even full divisions."

Chiang scoffed at some American fears that the United States would become involved in any attack on the mainland. He said he wanted to repeat once more that the Nationalists needed no foreign troops to fight their battle—only arms and equipment.

As for a Red attack on Formosa, the generalissimo said:

"Nothing would be more welcome than a Communist attempt to invade Formosa. Such an attempt would give our forces the opportunity to inflict a smashing defeat on the enemy."

"Our forces are ready and confident and the people of Taiwan (Formosa) are behind them. We would welcome a fight to prove to the world that we have the spirit, determination and unity to defeat the Reds."

STAN DELAPLANE'S

POSTCARD

I note by the Los Angeles journals that there is some talk about Mr. Mario Lanza who sings for his elegant suppers.

The talk comes out of a CBS television show called, "Showers of Stars." And since I saw the opening of this the other night, I do not see why I cannot not expert on the matter.

I will admit that I did not see Mr. Lanza personally. I saw him on a 19-inch color screen at a very plush champagne party. But when the dailies exposed that Mr. Lanza was merely exercising his mouth while an RCA record put out the music, I was not horrified.

There were some harsh words said about Mr. Lanza who, I heard, got $40,000 for doing what merely amounted to a series of costumed yawns. Mr. Lanza flung back some harsh words in return. "I can out-sing any so-and-so in the world," he said.

Well, I do not see what all the shooting's for. Not being a TV editor and thus entrusted with the public's front living room.

Seems to me Mr. Lanza sounded "Ok" on the records. For all I know, maybe he sounded better on the record than if he had reached for a high one. "Shower of Stars" was the name of the show. And if it showered before—so what?

The fact that Mr. Lanza got his caviar supper twice for the same thrush work seems a good thing to me. I am for double indemnity, every time.

This was not the way the TV journalists viewed it. Not all anyway. There were near blows struck in the breakfast room of the Hollywood Roosevelt where 100 TV scribes gathered to review this matter.

Daily Variety looked askance on the Lanza affair they headlined it: "Shower of Shellac."

There seemed to be some indignation that the show was not "live."

A great rash of press messages poured upon the wires. And Mr. Lanza was taken to task quite sternly. I don't know whether it bothered him. If somebody would give me 40,000 of the best, I would not care what they said.

"I can out-sing any so-and-so in the world," said Mr. Lanza.

As an unpaid so-and-so singer,

I bow to Mr. Lanza and his 40,000 skins. He out-sings me. By $40,000.

Well, now that the ball is over, I must report that it was an elegant party. Mumm's flowed like champagne. Movie stars paraded. Searchlights searched the Hollywood sky (though I am not sure what they were searching for). Ladies dripped with mink and orchids. And the whole "Shower of Stars"—$200,000 worth of extravaganzas—winds up with a blast on Lanza. This is the way I like my parties to end. Not with a whimper but a bang!

With the whole thing winding up in evening clothes in the plush Crystal Room of the Beverly Hills Hotel. The newsboys crying Lanza's alleged perfidy into the southern California night.

I listened to a good deal of argument on the matter in the morning. Some TV editors taking one side, some the other.

Personally, I do not care whether my stars sing "live" into my living room or not. I do not really believe all my stars are even alive. Or living, breathing persons. How do I know but what they are mechanical marvels worked up by Walt Disney?

To require that our TV stars actually sing is to demand reality that cannot be produced on the TV screen in any case. If people want to hear songs sung "live," they should go to a night club where you can check the action personally.

This is a mechanical world, my masters. Robot controlled airplanes. Mechanical monsters grinding out monstrous mathematical answers. In unbelievable laboratories. The mushroom cloud trademarked on every package.

I am happy enough that Mr. Lanza sang once for the record. And that I have ears to hear it.

There was some talk that Miss Betty Grable also used a recording. Her voice came prettily off

'Extension' At Waverly Detached

The property of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold J. Volkmer has been ordered disconnected from the Village of Waverly by the Lancaster District Court in an uncontested equity action.

Judge Harry Ankeny entered the order after the village trustees approved and consented to the proposed disconnection of the "isolated extension" on the north edge of Waverly.

The Volkmers asked disconnection because of the inclusion of their property deprived their children of transportation by school bus, forcing them to walk a mile over open land to school.

Petitioners also stated no benefits in the form of sewers, electricity, or street lighting were received from the village, although bearing a portion of the financial burden.

The court ruled the petitioners are the majority of legal voters residing on the real estate in question, which was unimproved except for the Volkmers' home.

Highways Can't Tell Truck Types

A Nebraska attorney general's opinion Thursday said in effect that a piece of pavement or a bridge can't tell what kind of truck is rolling over it.

Fillmore - Co. Atty. John C. Gewacke of Geneva had asked whether or not penalties for violation of weight limitations would apply to farm trucks as they do to commercial vehicles.

"It is clear," Asst. Atty. Gen. Ralph Nelson wrote, "that the highways do not recognize a distinction between types of trucks, so far as road damage is concerned. Neither does the statute make a distinction."

Security Sale Banned

The State Banking Department Thursday ordered L. E. Mader & Co., of 1500 St. Catherine St., West, Montreal, Canada, to cease offering securities of Huddersfield Uranium and Minerals, Ltd., in Nebraska.

State Power Study Plan Rejected

The Legislative Council's executive board has rejected a suggestion by Sen. Herbert Duls of Gothenburg for a study of the power situation in Nebraska.

Duls proposed such a study in a letter to the council early in September. The board's reason for turning it down was the shortness of the time before the new Legislature convenes.

Duls had asked for a study of these points:

- Whether or not the law should be changed to divorce power and irrigation in Nebraska.
  - Whether or not the Railway Commission, the Department of Roads and Irrigation, or some other agency should be given supervision of power in Nebraska.
- The Gothenburg senator introduced a resolution in the 1953 legislative session, calling for a study of state irrigation and power law. The proposal died in committee, but the council's executive board about a year ago on its own motion authorized a study of irrigation law, with Duls as chairman of the sub-committee.

This sub-committee has held several public hearings and will meet here Friday afternoon to work on its report.

Kids Will Again Paint Broken Bow Store Windows

BROKEN BOW, Neb. (AP) — In many a town people guard their windows on Halloween to keep the kids from painting them up. But not in Broken Bow.

Here they stage an annual Halloween celebration and the feature of the event is a window painting contest for grade school kids in and around the town. A year ago over 150 windows in downtown Broken Bow were decorated with Halloween scenes by the competing youngsters.

First Of Fall Hunting Seasons Open At Noon

The boom-boom of shotguns will echo across Nebraska fields and woodlands starting at noon today as the first major game bird season of the fall hunting period gets under way.

Initial blasts will be directed against ducks, geese and coot. The entire state is open.

On ducks, the bag limit is 5 and possession limit 10. On geese, the limits are 5 and 5 but not more than 2 of the geese can be of the Canada or white front variety. Coot limits are 10 and 10.

During the first few days of the seasons, hunters are expected to find mostly small ducks and geese native to Nebraska and South Dakota. But the Canadian geese and big mallards from the north are expected along later.

The duck-geese-coot season runs to Dec. 6. On the opening day hunting starts at noon. Thereafter shooting will be legal from a half hour before sunrise until sunset.

Pheasants Next
Next up will be the 10-day pheasant season starting Saturday, Oct. 16. Only cocks can be shot and bag and possession limits are 2 and 2.

All counties are open to pheasant hunting except Antelope, Gage, Jefferson, Johnson, Madison, Nemaha, Pawnee, Pierce, Richardson and Thayer counties and designated game refuges.

The quail season runs from Oct. 30 to Nov. 25 and limits are 6 and 6. Counties open to quail hunting are 2 and 2.

Junior Wranglers Slate Horse Show

Junior Wranglers, a group of 30 junior horsemen, will have a horse show Oct. 10, 1:30 p.m., at 6345 Pioneer.

Fourteen contests and horsemanship events will be held with ribbons awarded in every class. Championship trophies will be awarded to the high point boy and girl.

The age limit in the events is 18 with entries taken at the ring Sunday or by Doris Pierce, 5-2981. If stopped by rain, the events will be held Oct. 17.

Gagne To Show Wares Here

New Yorkers saw this scene earlier this week in St. Nicholas Arena when New Zealand's Pat O'Connor managed to grab a ring rope as he went flying over the heads of spectators while in the clutches of Verne Gagne.

Gagne To Meet Chesty Bernard In Defense Of Wrestling Title

Slick Verne Gagne will come into the Fairgrounds ring Monday night fresh from a successful defense of his United States heavyweight wrestling championship against Pat O'Connor in New York.

Gagne did not defeat the handsome New Zealand veteran who is rated as top challenger for the Minnesota title, but he came off with a draw which was sufficient for the retention of his crown.

Monday, not Tuesday as was previously stated, the champ from Robbinsdale, Minn., on the shore of Lake Superior will meet Chesty Bernard of Grand Rapids, Mich., in the main event of Professor Adam Krieger's third production of the fall.

Bernard is new to the Lincoln mat and is considered a possible comer in the pro wrestling game because of his tremendous size—especially the 56½ inch chest.

Steve McGill and Jack Hader will open the show at 8:30 p.m. Bob Orton and Mike DiBiase are the semi-boys in two falls out of three.

Game Rescheduled
CRETE — The Fairbury-Crete football game scheduled for Thursday will be played Saturday night. The Twin-Rivers Conference game was rescheduled because of rain Thursday.

Northeast's number one backfield goes through its paces in preparation for a game with Hastings tonight. Split-T Quarterback John Douthitt takes the snap from Center Frank Calton, and has several options: he can hand off to Left Halfback Dee Haas, Fullback Jim Lee or Right Halfback Dick Beachell. Tonight's game will be the last home appearance for Northeast.

Kansas City Block Threatened Yankees Are Offered 'Reasonable' Sum

By JERRY LISKA
CHICAGO (U) — Arnold Johnson, Chicago banker-realtor, said Thursday he would pay the New York Yankees a "reasonable amount" for any other Kansas City territory if he is able to buy the Philadelphia A's and shift the club to the Midwestern city.

The Yankees, whose principal farm club, the Blues of the American Assn., play in Kansas City, earlier Thursday threatened to block the proposed switch of the A's unless the payment was adequate for territorial rights.

Sale of the A's reaches a showdown stage at a meeting of league owners here Tuesday.

Johnson, already aware the Washington Senators and Detroit Tigers are on record as opposing the A's shift, declined to state what he would regard as an adequate payment to the Yankees.

Six of the eight league clubs must approve a franchise shift. "I have known right along I must make restitution to the Yankees and the American Assn.," said Johnson. "I intend to be fair about it."

Yanks Ask $8-Set Deadline
Dan Topping, Yankee president, has pointed out that Baltimore of the International League received between $300,000 and $350,000 when the St. Louis Browns were shifted to that city a year ago.

Topping qualified his statement concerning territorial compensation with the comment it should not be interpreted as opposition to the A's transfer.

"I will say that we have set next Tuesday as a deadline for this move," Topping told the Kansas City Star by telephone from New York. "If nothing happens then, we believe we should go ahead with building the Blues for Kansas City next year."

Johnson, who is Topping's landlord at Yankee Stadium and also bought the Blues' Stadium, has been rowing upstream all the way in his effort to buy the debt-harassed A's for a reported $3,375,000.

Roy Mack has vigorously opposed the desire of his venerable father, Connie, and brother, Earle, to sell to Johnson. Clark Griffith of Washington and Spike Briggs of Detroit openly have expressed antipathy to an A's shift to Kansas City.

Topping Turn-About
Then came the surprising demand by Topping, who said the Yankees had changed their previous intention of giving Johnson a free road into Kansas City.

It may be that Johnson will wash his hands of the whole affair if his architectural engineering experts, now surveying Blues' Stadium, make it a big league park, report the project cannot be completed before the 1955 baseball season begins.

He expects a report from the experts this weekend and admittedly hopes it will be a green light.

"If they tell me the job can be done (building a double-deck stadium to raise the capacity from 17,000 to 35,000), I still will buy the Athletics," Johnston said today.

Meanwhile, major league fever has gripped Kansas City. Ticket requests for the 1955 season have mounted into thousands. This is in response to a campaign started yesterday by the Kansas City Merchants Assn., to show the city's interest in getting a big league team.

Seixas, Trabert, Richardson, Talbert On Davis Cup Squad

NEW YORK (U) — The same four tennis players who carried the burden in last year's unsuccessful effort to bring back the Davis Cup from Australia will try again next December. But this time the United States may try to build for the future by sending along a couple of newcomers to gain experience.

The Davis Cup Selection Committee Thursday named William F. Talbert of New York, Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, Tony Trabert of Cincinnati and Hamilton Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., to the team which will go to Australia in December. For the second year Talbert will be captain and, if necessary, a playing member of the team.

Bob Perry of Los Angeles, who went along last year but was used only for practice matches, wasn't mentioned Thursday. Instead the committee, headed by Lawrence A. Baker of New York, offered the suggestion that two younger players be sent to Australia for experience in international competition.

The American team will meet Sweden, the European Zone champion, in the inter-zone matches at Brisbane, Dec. 16-18. The winner then will play Australia in the challenge round, Dec. 27-29.

Seixas and Trabert played both singles and doubles in last year's 3-2 loss to Australia in the challenge round, a series they lost on the final day after leading 2-1. But

Cubs Purchase Two More From Bruins

CHICAGO (U) — The Chicago Cubs Thursday bought a Western League all-star shortstop and an outfielder from the Western's fastest runner from their Des Moines, Ia., affiliate.

The shortstop is Ed Winceniak, 25, who batted .282, collecting 31 doubles, in his first season since 1950. Winceniak was in military service in 1951 and 1952 and stayed out of baseball in 1953. He was with Visalia of the California League in 1949 and with Rock Hill of the Tri-State League in 1950.

The outfielder is Solly Drake, 23, who broke his collarbone trying a diving catch early last season, but after a month's idleness came back to bat .282. Drake, Negro speedster who has been a pro only two seasons, won by three yards in a special 100-yard race to determine the fastest Western League player late this year.

Husker Two-Milers To Try Out Today

University of Nebraska Track Coach Jerry Lee has revived the two-mile run as an athletic event at the University and first tryouts for long-winded aspirants will be held today.

Four meets for the two-milers have been slated. They are: Oct. 16, Varsity-Freshmen; Oct. 23, Kansas State at Lincoln; Nov. 6, Iowa State and Chicago University at Ames; and Nov. 13, the Big Seven meet at Iowa State.

Coach Lee will also hold tryouts for freshman track talent today, with the first postal meet slated against Kansas University on Oct. 16. Other frosh postals will be Oct. 30 against Colorado, Nov. 6, Kansas State and Nov. 13, the Big Seven Freshman meet.

On Oct. 26, Lee plans an intramural mile and a half race.

There's only one "PRESTONE" anti-freeze. Ask for it by brand name — make sure you get it. New low price only $2.95 per gal.

Rockets Tackle Hastings In Farewell Appearance

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Member

An atmosphere of homecoming will lend itself to two local high school football games tonight.

The only other game, however, will be a farewell appearance. And perhaps the best game of the week—Omaha Holy Name-Cathedral—won't be played until Saturday.

College View faces Tecumseh in a homecoming game. It will be the Viewmen's only appearance on their home field, since two later games have been switched to the Lincoln High Oval.

Lincoln High's tiny terrors, who have travelled over 1,000 miles since the season started, come home after four road games. The Links meet Scottsbluff in their first home appearance.

Northeast's Mid-East Conference battle with Hastings will be the last home game for the Rockets.

Weather Better
The weather forecast, while not favorable, indicates the teams will have better luck than they did last week when rain slowed play throughout the state. Partly cloudy skies with warmer temperatures, ranging up to 72 degrees, are predicted along with slight winds.

A run-down on opponents of the Capital City teams indicates that only one local eleven—Lincoln High—is a definite favorite.

A wet field may slow down the Links as much as Scottsbluff, a team which has lost four straight games. The Bearcats were victims of Mitchell, Sidney, McCook and Fort Collins, Colo. Lincoln has beaten Omaha Central, North Platte, Sioux City Central and Grand Island.

The Links will be outweighed by Scottsbluff as they have been in every previous game. The heaviest man in Lincoln's probable starting line tonight will be Mark Reimers, a 170-pound tackle recently promoted to the first team.

Lincoln's starting line averages slightly under 152 pounds per man. The speedy Links have been able to push over big lines before, however, and should do it again tonight.

Scottsbluff has 12 veterans on the squad. The Bearcats' split-T offense will be operated by Quarterback Bud Murray. Last year Scottsbluff beat Lincoln, 14-6.

Dads Honored
Northeast meets Hastings in a final appearance at Magee Stadium. The Mid-East championship rides on the outcome of the game. Both teams have 3-1 records, and suffered their first defeats last week. Northeast lost to Beatrice, 7-0, and Hastings fell to North Platte, 19-14.

Hastings' split-T attack is led by quarterback Tom Osborne, a fair passer, and hard-running halfback Jerry Shipman. In a previous appearance in Lincoln, Hastings beat College View, 19-9.

Hastings also beat Fairbury and Columbus. Northeast wins were over Fremont, Grand Island and Nebraska City.

Hastings walloped Northeast, 34-7, in 1953. Both teams should be "up" tonight, due to last week's defeats, and the game looks even on paper.

It will be "Dad's Night" for

Texas 'Primed' Upset Oklahoma

By BEN PHEGAR
The Associated Press

The University of Oklahoma's football forces invade Dallas tomorrow for their annual battle with Texas and reports from the Southwest claim the Longhorns are primed to drop the Sooners from their perch as the nation's No. 1 football team.

Record Loot For Giants Is $11,147 Each

NEW YORK (AP)—Twenty-eight players on the New York Giants plus their trainer and club personnel on eight teams who participated in the all-time high in World Series money.

A full Giants' share was $2,867.22 more than the previous record payoff to the New York Yankees in 1953. It was $4,435.40 more than a full share of the losing Cleveland Indians.

The Cleveland share was $6,712.50 each, a record for a loser. The Indians cut their melon into 35 1/2 shares (34 full shares, 1 half share and 4 quarter-shares) and also gave out $8,600 in cash. The Giants divided 32 1/6 shares (30 full shares, 3 half-shares and 2 one-third shares) and doled out $11,147 in gifts.

Record Receipts
In all the players' share of the total World Series receipts was a record $881,763.72, including $83,000 for a pre-game television program. The previous high was $691,341.61 last year.

The players get 60 per cent of the receipts of the first four games. Of this 70 per cent goes to the participating teams, 15 per cent to the teams which finished second, 10 per cent to the third place teams and 5 per cent to the fourth place finishers.

Speculation immediately after the series that the winning share would be worth slightly more than $10,000 apparently was based on a larger number of full share splits of the huge jackpot.

The second place Brooklyn Dodgers gave 31 1/4 shares worth $2,103.43 each. The second place Yankees gave 35 5/12 shares worth $1,768.43 each.

The third place Milwaukee Braves gave 36 full shares, each worth $1,227.67. Frick said he believed it was the first time a club had avoided fractions completely in splitting the loot and had given everybody concerned exactly the same amount.

Philis Pay Two Mgrs.
On the third place Chicago White Sox, 36 shares were worth $1,224.57 each and were divided among 40 players and personnel.

The fourth place Philadelphia Phillies split 34 shares among 37 men, giving Steve O'Neill, who managed the club the first half of the season, and Terry Moore, the second half manager, each full shares of $648.36.

On the fourth place Boston Red Sox 37 full shares were worth $595.79 each and were divided 44 ways.

All figures will shrink, maybe by as much as 20 per cent, when taxes are paid. The commissioner's office pays the clubs in lump sums and the clubs distribute the individual checks after withholding income tax.

Wesleyan's search for a football victory in the Nebraska College Conference tonight will be directed toward Simon Field in Crete where the Plainsmen will meet the winless Doane Tigers. The game is figured as a toss-up with the traditional rivalry between the two schools wiping out a slight edge which might be accorded to Doane because of the home field advantage.

Peru To Mark Dads' Day At Midland Tilt

PERU—Dads of members of the Peru State College football squad will be honored guests in the school's famous Oak Bowl Saturday night as the Bobcats go after their 26th consecutive football victory.

The fathers of the players will be in seats directly behind the players' bench and will wear placards bearing the same number as their sons' jerseys.

And it may very well turn out that the dads will witness a thriller. Last week Midland College, the Bobcats' Dad's Day opponent, showed an amazing tendency to resume the practice they followed last year of rising up at unexpected times and whittling the giants down to size. They defeated Wayne State's powerful Wildcats by a touchdown and that was equal to the best the Bobcats could do a week earlier.

Coach Woody Greeno's Warriors, employing the T formation, proved to be a deceptive outfit with a bone-crushing line play which swept the Wildcats into oblivion insofar as a bid for conference standings is concerned. The Midland offense is built around back Don Winter, top ground gainer and scorer for the 1952 squad and a deceptive runner whose swivel-hipped tactics pose a constant threat.

Coach Al Wheeler's Bobcats came through the Chadron State fray with nothing more than scratches and should be at top form for the Saturday night contest but the Peru mentors hope there will be no recurrences of the flu attacks that had several squad members out of action parts of last week.

Wesleyan defeated Buena Vista (13-0), lost to Northwest Missouri (20-7), Chadron (6-0) and tied Kearney last week (6-6) in the mud of Maize Stadium.

Nagle, the former University of Nebraska ball-handling magician and passer, was tabbed as a threat to Peru State in the NCC this fall, but the Tiger line has not come through as raters figured.

The Doane forwards are green with only eight lettermen on hand. Nagle and assistant coaches Harold Dorn and Ken Barth have eight veterans in the backfield. The leading scorer for the Tigers is Frank Rose, a 155-pound senior halfback from Crete.

Rose ran for two TD's against Midland. Bud Jasnoch, a sophomore halfback from Ogallala, contributed the longest Tiger touchdown of the fall when he went 49 yards to score against Hastings last week.

Coach Keith Skogman will take the entire Wesleyan squad to Crete. No one will miss the game because of injuries.

The Plainsmen did skull work Wednesday and Thursday as the rain forced them indoors. Skogman is expected to start the same team which opened against Kearney. That would be Paul Fredstrom and Harold Gustafson at ends, Durward VanCleve and Doug Johnson at tackles, Pete Nelson and Jack Wilfang at guards, Boyd Thompson at center, Charley Ege at quarterback, Cliff Kahl and Bob Starr at halfback and Sanford Nelson at fullback.

Game time is 7:45 p.m.

Duke Named Over Purdue

Picker Takes Chance—Chooses Texas

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—Oklahoma, the nation's No. 1 team, and Purdue, conqueror of Notre Dame, are marked for their own come-uppance this week as the football season moves groggily forward.

Last weekend brought an epidemic of upsets, but we managed to sneak through with 34 right out of 49 for .694. The gaudy season's average was pulled down to .786 on a 103-28 mark.

Here's to a bigger week: TEXAS OVER OKLAHOMA: The Longhorns, with some of the best material in the country, have started rolling after that Notre Dame defeat. They have the psychological edge and are among home-folks.

DUKE OVER PURDUE: The Blue Devils from Durham have a more solid team with a strong line and many good backs, headed by Jerry Barger and Worth Lutz. Lenny Dawson's air attack may be bottled.

RICE OVER WISCONSIN: An individual duel between Dick Moegle and Alan Ameche, but the Badgers left too much in the Michigan State game.

SOUTHERN CAL OVER TCU: The Trojans are getting better each week, may be the best on the West Coast. A Friday night game.

NOTRE DAME OVER PITT: The Fighting Irish start a new unbeaten string. Pitt is reeling from too much schedule.

OHIO STATE OVER ILLINOIS: The Illini's J. C. Caroline and Mickey Bates will break loose some time, but we stick with Red Cassidy.

IOWA OVER MICHIGAN: Forest Evashevski has too much depth for the Wolverines, still groggy from the Army setback.

OLE MISS OVER VANDERBILT: The Commodores are coming fast and are in a good position for an upset, but we have to stick with Mississippi on its record and proven squad.

Series Tied, 2-2

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Jim Bear Owens pitched a neat two-hitter Thursday night as the Syracuse Chiefs gained a 1-0 victory over the Louisville Colonels to square the Little World Series at two victories apiece.

GEORGIA TECH OVER LSU

Bobby Dodd's youngsters are growing into men, should get tougher as season progresses.

The others: Penn over Princeton, Yale over Columbia, Boston College over VMI, Boston University over Fordham, Brown over Rhode Island, Colgate over Rutgers, Cornell over Harvard, West Virginia over George Washington, Penn State over Virginia.

SOUTH
Alabama over Tulsa, Auburn over Kentucky, Tennessee over Chattanooga, Florida over Clemson, Richmond over The Citadel, Davidson over Presbyterian, North Carolina over Georgia, South Carolina over Furman, Maryland over Wake Forest, Mississippi Southern over Abilene Christian, Mississippi State over Tulane, William & Mary over North Carolina State, Florida State over Villanova.

MIDWEST
Southern Methodist over Missouri, Kansas over Iowa State, Michigan State over Indiana, Minnesota over Northwestern, Nebraska over Kansas State, Cincinnati over Marquette, Dayton over Louisville.

Backs Leading As Receivers

NEW YORK (AP)—A pair of backfield men have taken over a specialty usually reserved for ends with Dick James of Oregon and Dick Rushing of Kentucky the top pass receivers in the country.

James, a halfback, and Rushing, a fullback, have caught 14 passes each this year to lead all receivers in the major college ranks.

But the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau, which keeps track of such things, notes the number of catches is the smallest to lead this phase of football in eight years. This would indicate a trend back to the running game.

James, who made four catches against Utah, has a total of 159 yards to his credit while Rushing, shutout as a pass receiver by Louisiana State, has 106 yards from pass receptions.

The busiest receivers last weekend were Frank Teverbaugh of Idaho and Ronnie Beagle of Navy, each of whom snatched eight for the single game high of the season. Teverbaugh now has 13 catches for third place in the standings while Beagle is eighth with a total of nine.

Ted Rohde of Kansas is the leading kicker, with an average of 46.9 yards, followed by George Waker of Arkansas with 46 flat and Ray Taylor of Texas Christian with 45.1.

The best man at running back punts so far is Ralph Moody, a Kansas halfback, who has returned six boots for 130 yards. William & Mary's Charlie Sumner is close with 129 yards on six runbacks.

Smaller Schools Catch Grid Spotlight Tonight

By BILL FITZGERALD
Star Sports Staff Member

The prep football spotlight catches the smaller schools Friday night when strong teams collide in attractive games in the eastern section of Nebraska.

A class C feature sends Weeping Water (4-0) to Syracuse (3-1) in a game from which the best C team in southeast Nebraska should emerge.

Weeping Water, coached by the former University of Nebraska guard — Darwin Salestrom — has knocked over Table Rock, Peru Prep, Louisville and Pawnee City.

Coach Joe Moss comes into the clash with a Syracuse squad which lost the opener to rated Lincoln Cathedral (4-0) of the Class B field, then whacked Pawnee City, Humboldt and Table Rock.

It's a toss-up game with Weeping Water drawing the nod.

Waverly, now a Class C school runs into trouble against unbeaten Ralston where Ollie Mayfield of Alve success is the coach. Ralston is a B team which has dropped Louisville, Fremont St. Patrick's and Westside.

Coach Rollie Wieggers, the Wesleyan athlete of recent campaigns, has led the Waverly Vikings to four consecutive triumphs, but this meeting figures as a Ralston win.

Nebraska City will be at Beatrice in a big one between two of the Top Ten teams of the Class A ranks. A close game going to Beatrice at home where the Orangemen get terrific support from foot-happy Beatrice.

David City draws the large task of stopping Seward or collapsing in Central Ten competition. The Scouts have lost only to Wahoo and have won three since that opener. Seward is picked off the record book, but it may be the best game of the night at D. C.

Filley and Diller may produce the best B team game of the week in a battle between Top Ten teams at Diller. Both are undefeated with Filley a slight favorite.

In other important games Callaway figures over Arcadia, Falls City over Plattsmouth, Clarkes over Wood River in a possible upset.

Geneva over Friend as the Wildcats, keeping clawing toward the Class C championship, Fullerton in a squeak past Ord in one of the best games of the night, Hebron in a good game at Minden, Holdrege over Broken Bow, Tecumseh over College View, Creighton Prep in style at Omaha North, Lincoln as it pleases against Scottsbluff.

Wahoo will slide past Blair in a Class B classic, Omaha Benson to lose its first at Council Bluffs Abraham Lincoln, Northeast to beat Hastings, Hastings St. Cecilia to edge undefeated Red Cloud, Sidney in a tough win at Gering, and Omaha Holy Name to clip Lincoln Cathedral Saturday.

In 6-man ball Hardy is picked over Alexandria, Cedar Bluffs over Yutan, Elmwood over Dunbar, Henry Creek in a close one at Salem, Lawrence past Beaver Crossing, and Eagle in style past Alvo. The Friday schedule:

Liska Looks Again After Missing Many

By JERRY LISKA
CHICAGO (U) — That fluttering confetti is from the Midwest football season's form sheet. All our losers last week were sure shots—Notre Dame, Illinois, Michigan and Marquette. Now that we know better, maybe we can go better.

WISCONSIN 19, RICE 13 — It looks more and more like the Badgers may be the Big Ten's Rose Bowl beauties. A 100-yard pasture just ain't big enough for Alan (The Horse) Ameche. The Owls from Rice, however, can give out with a pretty good hook.

PURDUE 21, DUKE 13 — Notre Dame boasts a fast secondary, but Len Dawson's fancy flings riddled the Irish. This Boilermaker soph may be the greatest passer in modern Big Ten history. Duke is tough, but no tougher than Notre Dame.

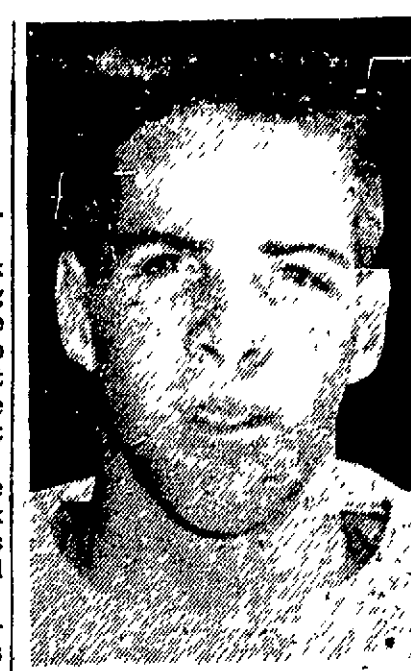

OHIO STATE 24, ILLINOIS 7 — Illinois was like a rudderless ship against Stanford. J. C. Caroline is finding out that being a "second" Red Grange takes a heap of blocking. Ohio State's Hopalong Cassidy is galloping like Caroline should, but can't. The Bucks haven't forgotten that 41-20 plastering last season by Caroline & Co.

MINNESOTA 21, NORTHWESTERN 12 — The Gophers are really going for it. Southern split-T cooking of Coach Murray Warmath. Like Ohio State, Minnesota now stands at a dashing dark horse in the Big Ten race, even though this is the first conference start for the twice-victorious Gophers. Sure it's a fine touchdown time coming from Minnesota's McNamara band of half back brothers Dick and Bob.

IOWA 14, MICHIGAN 7 — A big Ten game in which the title-conscious Hawkeyes must be wary of a stumble at the alma mater of Iowa Coach Forest Evashevski. The Wolverines approached the Army mule from the wrong end and may be in a mood to upset.

NOTRE DAME 28, PITT 7 — Notre Dame now knows that the luck of the Irish isn't gilt-edged insurance against defeat. The ball bounced the right way for Notre Dame against Texas. Against Purdue it didn't bounce, it floated like a homing pigeon to Len Dawson's targets.

MICHIGAN STATE 18, INDIANA 13 — Even without injured Le Roy Bolden, the Spartans should finally come out of the haze after Iowa and Wisconsin. But they better have 11 men on the field when Hoosier Milt Campbell has the ball.

Moegle's Duel With Ameche TV Feature

MADISON, Wis. (U) — Ivy Williamson has no doubt that Rice Institute is deserving of its No. 11 rating this week in the Associated Press football poll.

He thinks, too, that his Wisconsin Badgers, ranked third in the national balloting, will beat the Owls in their nationally televised game at Camp Randall Stadium here on Saturday.

"We should win Saturday, if we don't fall off too much from our effort of last week,"

The Badgers, sparked by galloping Alan (The Horse) Ameche on the ground and the passing of quarterback Jim Miller and Jim Hunka, beat Michigan State 6-0 a week ago in their opening Big Ten game. Ameche scored the touchdown on a slashing 28-yard run.

"We aren't underestimating Rice one bit," Williamson went on. "They're a good team. They're like a good Big Ten team, and they've got that Moegle. He's a real good one."

"But we've got a lot of confidence in this bunch of ours and in their themselves. If we can come close to what we did last week, we should win."

Williamson said he expected Rice, which has relied heavily on its running attack in two victories, to "throw a lot more against us than they have so far."

"We think they'll go to the outside with their speed, and pass," he said. "That seems to be their greatest strength."

Minor Leagues Said In 'Fight For Life'

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (U) — The National League is riding high with its first World Series winner since 1946 and the American League shows a healthy increase at the gate, despite its lack of balance. But the minors are crying the blues.

In the hilarity of the World Series press room at Cleveland there was a somber note. George Trautman, head of the minors, wore a serious expression as he huddled with Clarence Rowland, president of the Pacific Coast League.

"This is a very serious situation," said Rowland to a reporter. "We are in a fight for our lives and too few people realize it."

Trautman echoed his words, adding, "We need all the help we can get."

You fellows are all excited about a fellow named Dusty Rhodes. That's fine, just as it should be. But did you ever stop to think that he came out of the minor leagues, and not any semi-pro industrial league or college?

"It's the same story with most of the players in the series. If it wasn't for the minors, they wouldn't be here today. You can name on the fingers of one hand, the Hall of Fame members who didn't play in the minors."

Trautman was right, of course. The backbone of the majors always has been the minors, Class D and C in particular, where the boys learn their trade. The only members of the New York Giants who didn't come up through the minors were Johnny Antonelli, who got $65,000 bonus from Boston, and Joe Amalfitano and Paul Giel, the bonus kids who never got into the series lineup.

The minors have been drying up fast. Several that operated in 1954 probably won't try again. The December meetings at Houston promise plenty of fireworks.

Even before the meetings, the fireworks have started. Frank Lawrence, owner of the Portsmouth, Va., club of the Piedmont League, for almost 40 years, is preparing to sue the majors for $50,000,000 claiming they had invaded minor league territory with radio and television versions of their games.

Lawrence was at the World Series, anxious to talk about his position in the upcoming major-minor war. Lawrence has been an outspoken foe of major league radio and TV into minor league cities for many years. Trautman had no comment to make about the possibility of a suit.

Baseball In Strange Position
If the suit does come up, it will find baseball in a strange position. Several years ago the majors had a rule protecting home territory against "invasion" by radio or TV. On word from the Justice Department, they hurriedly rescinded the rule. Special radio bureaus in league headquarters quickly were dissolved in fear they would be accused of "restraint in trade" in violation of the monopoly laws.

Various versions of the old rule on restricting radio have been jammed through minor league conventions but turned down by the majors on advice of their lawyers.

About the same time the story of the $50,000,000 suit leaked out in the papers, representatives of the major league farm systems met with Trautman trying to work out a plan of aid for the minors.

More Aid To Minors
Nobody would say just what they worked out, but it was reported the big league teams would give more direct aid to clubs with which they had working agreements. That would include paying part of the payroll, transportation expenses, spring training and higher fees for purchased players.

One minor league official, who did not want his name used, charged the majors wanted to see the minors collapse so they could reorganize the best cities into three or four major leagues and set up a few "feeder" circuits.

Scouting Targets—

Reds May Be Flying Over U.S.

WASHINGTON (U) — American Aviation magazine said Thursday that Russian diesel engine airplanes may be flying over the United States to pinpoint targets for future A-bomb attack.

The industry publication reported that Russia has developed reconnaissance aircraft "capable of flying over Alaska and even reaching San Francisco."

"Some intelligence reports suggest that they may have already done so," the magazine said.

Like Germans

A staff member added, in reply to a question, that presumably Russia would turn to diesel aircraft engines, as the Germans did in World War II, to achieve the long range which the United States has obtained through aerial refueling and the use of big aircraft such as the B36.

Citing "sources in contact with developments inside the Soviet Union," the American Aviation article said the reconnaissance craft are modified bombers — the Tupolev TU4, which is a Russian copy of the American B29, and the Miassischchev MI-13-RD.

The magazine said the Russian Air Force now has five long range reconnaissance squadrons. Each reportedly contains 10 planes, including two refueling tankers.

8,000 Miles

It said the range of the TU4 is 8,000 miles and the MI-13-RD almost 9,000 miles. The latter reportedly cruises between 310 and 350 miles an hour and can stay aloft 24 hours.

The diesel engines were said to have been developed at the Moscow-Khimiki Engine Center from two wartime German designs, the Jumo 223 and 224.

The article said the engines have been in production at Komsomolsk in Siberia for more than 18 months. But, it added that because of shortages of skilled labor and other problems only enough have been turned out for five of the projected 10 squadrons.

Ride Stream

"While the two planes are capable of reaching Alaska and the United States without outside aid, the recent Russian interest in building eight air bases on Sakhalin Island north of Japan may indicate their desire to ride the east-bound jet stream," American Aviation said.

Joe McCarthy Near Non-Existent Issue In Wisconsin Election

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
MILWAUKEE (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy is almost a non-existent issue in his home state election this year—most of the talk is about jobs and dairy prices.

Some Democrats, notably the candidate for governor and one for Congress, are telling the voters McCarthy really is quite an issue. But they don't seem to be convincing many people in a state that isn't electing a senator this year.

Here in what the auto tags proclaim as "Dairyland," there is more concern about milk checks and employment. Both of them are down in spots.

Correspondingly, Democratic hopes are up, because of an expected ballot box reaction from farmers and organized labor and a record Democratic vote in the Sept. 14 primary.

The Democrats talk confidently of November and of picking up at least one or two more House seats. At the moment, their chances of putting across their state ticket look less rosy.

The major prizes in Wisconsin are the governorship and 10 House seats. All the incumbents are running—GOP Gov. Walter J. Kohler for a third term, and eight Republican and two Democratic Congressmen.

McCarthy's term has four more years to run. He hasn't been back home for any speeches since June. State Republican leaders say there are no plans for any before the Nov. 2 voting.

Most people out here simply aren't talking about McCarthy.

"So far as I can detect," Kohler said in an interview, "McCarthy is no issue at all."

Same Opinion

James Doyle, former Democratic state chairman and the unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, has much the same opinion.

"McCarthy no longer is front center in Wisconsin politics," Doyle said. "On the contrary, attention has shifted from him and the things he has talked about to economic issues."

From William Proxmire, the 38-year-old printing company executive the Democrats picked to run against Kohler, there is a somewhat different slant. In a separate interview, Proxmire said several national issues figure in the gubernatorial contest and McCarthy is one of them, for two reasons:

"First," he said, "we recognize that a Democratic victory would be about as serious a blow to McCarthy as he could sustain, outside of defeat for himself."

"Second, the governor has been a constant, if not warm, supporter of McCarthy and never has publicly criticized Joe. He has called Joe an asset to the party. In August, 1952, when McCarthy had a Republican primary opponent, Kohler went to Eau Claire to speak for McCarthy."

In the 5th Congressional District, a Milwaukee district now held by Republican Charles Kersten, Democrats also are trying to raise the McCarthy issue.

John Rouse, executive secretary of the Republican party in Wisconsin, concedes the GOP may be in trouble here. Rouse said that Kersten has "let his fences sag" and was "not making votes sag" in Milwaukee by going off to Europe to investigate Communist seizure of the Baltic states.

Democratic State Chairman Elliott Walstead told this reporter that "Kersten is pretty well hooked up with McCarthy—they are peas out of the same pod." The Democratic candidate, Henry S. Reuss (pronounced Royce), has been hammering Kersten, for what he calls "slavish devotion to McCarthy and McCarthyism."

Real Democracy, Brotherhood Offer Challenge To Communist Threat

"As we make democracy and brotherhood a reality in this country, we are challenging and answering the threat of world wide Communism at the same time."

Earl S. Kalp of New York City, associate educational director of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, in speaking Thursday before the Optimist Club at the Cornhusker Hotel, warned that the Communist press and radio uses American prejudices to discount democracy.

He said that democracy and brotherhood are founded on the same ideals—mutual respect of people for each other, sharing responsibility and privileges, and the sharing of power.

The recent Supreme Court ruling on segregation was touched upon by Kalp. He said that communities ending segregation had no problems if they had carried on educational programs among teachers, school administrators, recreational directors, police, and other leaders prior to integration.

During the past summer, the ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—The Anatolian News Agency reported a violent five-second earthquake at Palu in eastern Turkey late Thursday night. There were no casualties. Palu is 65 miles southeast of Erzurum where 30,000 people died in the great quake of 1938.

Some State Employees Under Federal Hatch Act Restriction

Certain state as well as federal employees are subject to requirements of the federal Hatch Act, according to a ruling of the U. S. Civil Service Commission.

The commission held that the perform duties in connection with an activity financed in whole or in part by federal loans and grants. Workers in a number of state departments getting federal funds called attention to the ruling when urged to buy $1 birthday cards to send President Eisenhower and help campaign fund collections.

The ruling held that the employees have a right to vote and to express their political opinions but are forbidden to take an active part in political campaigns. They may attend rallies and join clubs but cannot take an active part in conduct of rallies or operation of the club.

They are also prohibited from marching in a political parade, selling tickets or otherwise promoting such activities as political dinners. They also cannot publish any letter in favor of or opposing any political party or candidate. They can make campaign contributions but cannot be required to do so.

"While it is not unlawful for an officer or employee to wear a political badge or button or display a political sticker on his private automobile, it is felt it is inappropriate for any public servant to make a partisan display of any kind while on duty conducting public business," the commission said.

The ruling applies to part time as well as full time employees. The federal employees are not permitted to solicit campaign contributions.

One state department financed in part with federal funds is holding 30 birthday cards left with them for sale by state employees. No effort will be permitted to sell them the department head said. He explained the cards were left while he was absent from the office.

What's all this Nonsense about beer being fattening?

MIGHT AS WELL BLAME ORANGE JUICE OR MILK FOR OVERWEIGHT!

Certainly beer has calories. It wouldn't be good and it wouldn't be beer if it didn't.

But here's something to remember. A glass of beer has less calories than a glass of orange juice or a glass of milk the very same size. In fact—ounce for ounce—today's light, refreshing beer is lower in calories than many of the foods recommended in weight reduction diets.

And what's all this talk about sugar and starch in beer?

Stuff and nonsense! Any brewer who found one iota of starch in his beer should fire his brew master.

And as for sugar—the fact is that all of the reputable brands today are "end fermented." This means that the amount of fermentable sugar you would get from a whole case of beer (twenty-four 12-oz.

bottles or cans) is so negligible it wouldn't be enough to sweeten a cup of coffee.

But there is a difference in beers. A difference you can taste... a difference in the deep down satisfaction it gives. And you'll find a big difference between Schlitz and any other beer.

In Schlitz you taste the richness of time, the essence of care, the smooth perfection of century-old skills. And through every glass runs the delicate fragrance and flavor of the hops... just the kiss of the hops... not a trace of harsh bitterness nor cloying sweetness.

Others may claim what they like, but after more than a hundred years, no other brewer has been able to duplicate the wonderful taste and the satisfaction found in Schlitz and Schlitz alone. No wonder it made a city famous!

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. BAERING DOWN ON THE NEWS By Arthur 'Bugs' Boer (Distributed by International News Service) Results in Maine make us wonder whether this is an administration or a sub-lease.

In another 30 days we will harvest the rest of the per capita opinion. Vermont is already in the bag with both ends sewed up.

Surprising to discover Democrats so far north in the moulting season. Is there no little Holland boy to hold his thumb in the Mason-Dixon dike?

Our local Democrats in New York and New Jersey are looking toward 1954 with compound optimism. Young Roosevelt and Averell Harriman do not see eye-to-eye nor who-to-who.

Like all the Roosevelts, young Franklin brings his own hat and glove to the game. But he never wants to catch.

New Jersey was the first to give the Dior look a pressure of 60 pounds all around. Gov. Meyner is as Democratic as an all-night lunch-wagon.

Demmes figured the best defense is an attack provided it's not hay fever. But it took plenty of moxie for Adlai to blame the Republicans for everything that happened in Truman's administration.

In their first swing around New York state Harriman addressed east-and-west traffic on a yellow light. Roosevelt spoke to an enthusiastic janitor.

What bothers them is Tom Dewey didn't say positively. They know a politician's retirement always leaves one ear out for a telephone call.

We have 30 days to come to a boil. In the self-funding interim both sides are claiming both sides.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's and for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Steel Gains Liven Dull Stock Mart

NEW YORK (U)—The stock market rocked along through a rather dull session Thursday enlivened only by strength in the steels, and closed a shade lower.

Steels gathered their strength from favorable reports on a brighter business picture in the industry now emerging.

Gains of 1 to 2 points in the steels were frequent. There were scattered gains of like size in many other areas.

Just about every section had a mixture of gains and losses except the strong steels and the somewhat weak chemicals.

The industrial component of the average was down 50 cents, railroads managed to add 10 cents, and utilities remained unchanged.

Volume, too, ebbed to 1,810,000 shares as compared with Wednesday's large 2,670,000 shares.

Markets At A Glance

NEW YORK (U)—
Stocks—Quiet; changes narrow.
Bonds—Mixed; trading quiet.
Commodities—Irregular; dealings slow.
CHICAGO:
Wheat—Easy; more rain in southwestern winter wheat belt.
Corn—Firm; closed on late rally.
Oats—Higher with corn.
Hogs—Declined 25 to 50 cents; new 1954 low, top $18.85.
Cattle—Steers steady to weak; top $26.25 on low choice.

Ike's $50 Billion U.S. Highway Plan Hits Opposition

Farm Group Protests Are Countered

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's "grand plan" for a 50-billion-dollar program to modernize the nation's highway system drew heavy opposition Thursday from two farm organizations.

The opposition, which followed the reasoning of many governors when the program was outlined to them last summer, was countered, however, with full-scale support from other organizations.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, an old Army sidekick of the President, opened a two-day hearing of a special advisory committee with a plea for help in launching Eisenhower's plan to spend five billion dollars a year for the next 10 years on a massive highway building program.

Clay, chairman of the five-member committee, said:

"We have no choice but to go forward. The question isn't whether or not we need highway improvements, but rather how may we get them most quickly and most economically."

'Most Serious'

Among those backing the President's program was A. D. Condon, general counsel of the Independent Advisory Committee to the Trucking Industry, Inc., a labor-management organization.

Condon described the nation's "inadequate highway system" as the "most serious civil defense impediment" facing the country today.

John C. Lynn, legislative director of the American Farm Bureau Federation, told the committee his group "does not consider that the highway situation is so hopelessly inadequate" as to warrant a tremendous expansion in federal expenditures.

Lynn said "real progress" is being made toward correcting highway inadequacies and he advised against the federal government moving into areas which he said probably are the province of state and local governments.

Reject Expected

"Unless present trends in the direction of federal preemption of tax income and assumption of every more comprehensive responsibilities by the federal government are halted," he said, "state governments are likely to become little more than administrative agencies for federal programs."

Lloyd C. Halvorson, economist for the National Grange, said he couldn't speak for his entire organization in advance of its annual meeting next month but he said he suspected the grange would reject the program.

His argument also was based on the federal-states rights issue but even more so on the question of financing. He said automobile owners would have to pay $94 a year per car extra to make the program work.

The governors' conference, which received the initial announcement of the program with coolness, is to meet with the advisory committee after the Nov. 2 election to try to draft a program for submission to Congress in January.

Spokesmen for the U. S. Conference of Mayors, the Automobile Manufacturers Assn., and the American Roadbuilders Assn. all agreed a 50-billion-dollar program definitely is needed.

County Plans No Inquest In Ward Death

No coroner's inquest into the death of a 64-year-old Lincoln man found west of the city Wednesday is planned, according to Lancaster Co. Atty. Frederick Wagener.

Wagener said X-rays taken as a "no evidence of foul play." No autopsy into the death is planned, he said.

The man, who has been identified as Ray C. Ward of 1026 P. "died from natural causes," the coroner's report states.

Ward was last seen Sept. 10. His body, which was in an advanced stage of decomposition, was found near a small wooden bridge leading to the Burlington roundhouse with an empty wine jug by his head.

Ward had been employed at Ted's Barbershop at 1026 P and at Jim's Barbershop at 10th and P as a barber.

A brother-in-law, William Pryor, said he last saw Ward on Sept. 10 and understood he was going to Grand Island.

Ward is survived by a sister, Mrs. Hulda May Pryor of 627 So. 11th and a half-sister, Mrs. Minnie Hoffman, also of Lincoln.

Gas Explosion Damages Two-Story Farm Home

DENTON, Neb.—Erwin Siemens, chilled by the rainy weather, lit his propane stove on the farmstead, two miles south of Yankee Hill Cemetery, and bloomed.

A gas explosion shook the farmhouse shattering windows and starting small fires at several places in the two-story frame home.

Siemens and his wife, inside the farmhouse at the time, escaped with shock and slight injuries.

Firemen from Lincoln arrived to see Siemens dousing the flames with a garden hose. The fire fighters soaked smoking mattresses and watered down the walls to keep fire from breaking out again. Huge chunks of plaster were knocked off the walls by the explosion and the fires burned drapes, bedding, and curtains.

Siemens told firemen he ran to the basement and turned off the propane gas as soon as he recovered from the explosion.

He suffered minor burns on one hand. Three of Siemens' children were in school at the time and a fourth had just walked out of the farm home a minute before the explosion.

Firemen said the home suffered extensive damage. The alarm was turned in by a neighbor lady at 4:03 p.m.

The owner of the farm is Mrs. Roy Whitman of Route 1.

Firemen had to be towed the last 50 feet to the fire. Their fire engine was mired in the mud up to the running board. Siemens' tractor was used to tow the truck.

Garfield School Closes Again; Building Not 'Safe, Useable'

It's a rocky road Garfield School in Lancaster District 113 is traveling—and the end appears not to be in sight yet.

In a month's time the school, has moved from its location in the Lincoln Air Force Base's flight pattern, has opened a month later than other schools, and has been closed after three and one-half days of classes.

And—it appears the school may remain closed for nearly another month.

The school board closed the four-teacher elementary school that serves the area west of Capitol Beach after learning the state fire marshal's office would order the school closed.

Placement of three oil heaters in the building was given as the immediate reason for the closing order by State Fire Marshal E. C. Iverson.

Iverson has ordered the school closed until a permanent heating system is completely installed, electric wiring completed, and building placed in a "safe and useable condition."

While the marshal's report was critical of exit facilities, a board member pointed out that four exits with stairs are provided.

Probably key factor in the reopening of the school will be the completion of the gas line to the school's location.

Mud from recent rains has hampered laying pipe although there has been some difficulty in obtaining the pipe.

It will probably be at least three weeks until school can be reopened, according to one district spokesman.

Meanwhile, the 188 pupils in attendance when school opened this year will get a "two, three, or four week vacation" until the heating system is completed, said Lancaster County Superintendent Glenn Turner.

After the vacation, Turner said, pupils will return and attend classes as long as necessary to complete the required work for the school year.

Earlier, the school board had decided on half-day sessions for the beginning through third grade
